Italian Government Announces All Found With Guns in Homes at Addis Ababa "Liquidated"

Associated Press
Rome, Feb. 23.—The Italian conquerors of Ethiopia announced today that firing squads had "liquidated" all Ethiopians found with arms in their homes—a grim sequel to an attempt to assassinate Viceroy Rodolfo Graziani in Addis Ababa. Although how many Ethiopians had been executed was not announced, only 100 suspects had been freed. (Dispatches yesterday said more than 2,000 suspects had been rounded up). "All those found with arms in their houses (native grass houses) have been shot," said the communique. "The remainder are under examination."

CHURCH BURNS IN REVELSTOKE

Interior of United Edifice Destroyed By Fire of Unknown Origin

Associated Press
Revelstoke, B.C., Feb. 23.—Fire of undetermined origin today gutted the United Church building here. The loss was not immediately estimated. The blaze was discovered shortly before dawn, when it already was beyond control. There had been no fire in the church furnace since Sunday and there was no trace of smoke or fire in the building yesterday, church officials said. Services for the United Church congregation will be conducted in the former Methodist Church, it was announced.

Surviving are his widow and one daughter, Peggy, both of New Westminster.

Better Terms From Bondholders Urged In Council Chamber

Motion By Ald. A. Willis Brings Fortin Debt Refunding Scheme Up For Discussion and Is Then Referred to Finance Committee For Consideration; Council Considers Payment to Fiscal Agent in Camera

Official discussion of the Fortin civic debt refunding plan, like this year's groundhog, scurried uncertainly into he open last night and then dived back for cover. A motion by Alderman Archie Willis, seconded by Alderman James Adam, was presented to the City Council suggesting the finance committee continue negotiations with the bondholders for more favorable terms for the city, or that the Minister of Municipalities or the proper authorities be asked to appoint a board of arbitration to consider Victoria's finances. The motion provoked considerable discussion, but was referred back to the finance committee to be considered with the council as a whole at a special meeting on Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Following the regular council session, the mayor and aldermen met in camera to discuss certain phases of the refunding scheme, including the amount C. S. Henley, special fiscal agent, sought for his services. In explanation of the need for the camera session, Mayor Andrew McGavin stated certain legal features were involved, which, if made public, would injure the city should the matters be carried to the courts.

WILLS MOTION
Public debate on the Fortin plan was opened with the motion from Alderman Archie Willis which read as follows: "That the City Council of Victoria appreciate the consideration which the bondholders' committee has given to the debt problem of Victoria and is pleased to note that the bondholders' committee admits the need for readjustment of the debt of the City of Victoria and has submitted a plan, which, from its viewpoint, provides a solution."

"That the City Council of Victoria regrets that this city the capital of a province which has shown its willingness to proceed with orthodox financing and has rehabilitated its finances should be considered on the same basis for debt readjustment as the cities of a province which has adopted a new method of finance to the financial detriment of thousands of bondholders."

"That owing to the fact that, even if the City of Victoria were willing, it cannot proceed in 1937 with the plan of the bondholders' committee owing to lack of legislative authority, and owing to the fact that the City of Victoria desires to continue to finance according to present accepted methods."

"Therefore be it resolved: "That the finance committee of the City Council of Victoria be instructed to continue negotiations with the bondholders' committee with a view to gaining more favorable terms for the City of Victoria, failing which the City of Victoria ask the Minister of Municipalities for British Columbia or the proper authorities to appoint a Board of Arbitration to consider the question of Victoria's finances. "And that a copy of this resolution be sent to the bondholders' committee."

Pictou, N.S., Is Scene of Fire

Canadian Press
Pictou, N.S., Feb. 23.—Two blocks of Pictou's business district were swept by fire today, causing losses estimated at $100,000. The flames swept through three large frame buildings, housing apartments, the government liquor store and other business places.

HEDLEY MINE TRADING STOPS

371,250 Shares Change Hands This Morning and Price Drops From 65 to 34

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 23.—Trading in Hedley Amalgamated Gold Mine shares was stopped abruptly on the Vancouver Stock Exchange shortly before the noon close after a spectacular drop in price which sent it to a low during the day of 32 cents. In wild trading that saw 371,250 shares change hands, the price slid from an opening quotation of 65 to a low of 32 and then strengthened to 34. When the exchange room sounded, trading was brought to a stop and suspension of dealing in Hedley was announced. A. E. Sprange, secretary of the exchange, posted a notice at 11.15 a.m. which read: "Due to conflicting rumors and sudden drop in the stock, trading was suspended in Hedley Amalgamated here this morning by the committee of the stock exchange on receipt of reports from the government."

Little more than one week ago the stock was selling at 1.04, an all-time high, after a rapid climb from below its par of 50 cents. Last Tuesday the stock began a gradual decline that was halted temporarily at the opening yesterday when it strengthened to 80 cents at the noon close. In the afternoon heavy selling in large lots set in and the price plunged to 67.

Frank Parsons, a director of the company, issued the following statement: "All our property is in first class shape and there is no question whatever about the titles. A number are crown granted and applications are in for the crown granting of others. All of the work has been kept up to date and recorded. There is no law suit in connection with any of the property."

"Under date February 1 we received a letter from P. W. Racey, mining engineer, extracts from which read as follows: "Numerous samples have been taken of the drill core by your local representatives and the assay results from them indicate the possibility of there being one and maybe two quite large bodies of ore of commercial value. For example, the core from Hole No. 5 indicates ore at a height of sixty-five feet above the McKinnon tunnel that is thirty-five feet wide and averages $12.28 a ton. Two other holes drilled to prospect the ground above Hole No. 5 indicate even greater widths of ore, the average values of which have not yet been worked out due to the lateness of receiving all the sample returns."

"As is most apparent, these results are very encouraging and warrant continuation of exploratory work at as great a speed as your plant will permit."

Alberta Interest Cut Is Vetoed

Province Must Pay Full Contract Rates on Its Bonds, Alberta Supreme Court Judge Rules

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Feb. 23.—The Alberta Securities Interest Act, under which the Alberta government reduced interest on provincial bonds and guaranteed securities, was declared unconstitutional today by Mr. Justice Ives of the Alberta Supreme Court. It was the second major enactment of the Alberta government outlawed in a week by the Alberta Supreme Court, the first being the Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act, subject of a judgment by Mr. Justice A. F. Ewing last Friday. CUT LAST JUNE The province slashed interest rates June 1, 1936, from an average of 4.80 per cent to 2½ per cent, the estimated yearly saving being $3,500,000. In ruling out the interest reduction act, the Ives judgment declared:

MCGAVIN WILL GO TO OTTAWA

Mayor Over-ruled in Objection to Traveling; to Represent City at Conferences

Over-ruled in his personal objection to "tripping," Mayor Andrew McGavin was last night authorized by the City Council to represent Victoria at the annual convention of the Canadian Union of Municipalities and the Mayor's Conference in Ottawa, starting on March 16. A recommendation to have the chief magistrate go east was brought in by the public works committee, as the result of its deliberations last Thursday afternoon.

In support of the recommendation, Alderman W. T. Strath, chairman of that committee, quoted Reeve William Crouch's remarks at the Thursday meeting that relief issues were to be discussed and that a strong municipal representation was required to prevent the possibility of a greater burden of unemployment costs being shoved onto the municipalities. He was supported by Alderman J. D. Hunter, finance committee chairman, and Alderman John A. Worthington.

TO PREPARE BRIEF
"I think you should go," Alderman Worthington said. "I think we can prepare a brief for you that you could study on your way down there."

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar expressed his accord with the recommendation, emphasizing the need for municipalities to protect themselves against further relief burdens. "You all know my stand at the last elections. I'm still of the opinion there was too much tripping last year. But if you think it will be beneficial to the city, I will go, though I would rather stay at home," the mayor stated.

"We all realize your position, but we also realize it is not a pleasure trip," Alderman Dewar said before the recommendation was put to the vote and carried without dissent.

Letters from Reeve William Crouch and John Day supporting the mayor's decision to Ottawa were read at the meeting.

Jury Chosen For Townsend Trial

Associated Press
Washington, Feb. 23.—The government and defense counsel agreed in twenty minutes today on a jury to try Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the $200-a-month pension movement, on charges of contempt of the United States House of Representatives. Those selected included one woman. All appeared younger than sixty—the age when pensions would begin under Townsend's plan. Townsend sat impassive with hands folded in his lap during the proceedings. The federal district courtroom was sparsely filled.

NO SERIOUS INJURY
Reports indicated no one was injured seriously. Business houses destroyed included: The Goetz grocery, Simson's grocery, the Redie bakery, Jensen & Feustel hardware store, the cash grocery, the Eagles' Hall, the Douglas Inn, the Dreamland recreation centre, the Odd Fellows' Hall, the Guy Smith drug store, the Douglas Post Office, Douglas laundry, the new Smith apartment house, the Douglas City Hall and fire station, the Douglas school and the Galloway store.

STORK DERBY WINNER SOON

Ontario Appeal Court Bars Illegitimate Children; Judge to Make Award

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 23.—The Ontario court of appeal ruled today the "stork derby" clause of the will of the late Charles Vance Millar was valid, but held in a judgment delivered at Osgoode Hall that illegitimate children of mothers claiming the $500,000 estate should not be counted.

On both counts the Appeal Court decision upheld the judgment of Mr. Justice W. E. Middleton of the Ontario Supreme Court, who handed down the first decision on the clause's validity and later will determine the baby derby winner.

The disputed clause bequeathed the residue of the Millar estate to the Toronto mother registering the most births in the ten-year-old period following his death. The maternity race ended October 31, 1936, with a dozen mothers, claiming between seven and thirteen eligible children each, in the running.

RELATIVES INTERESTED
Next-of-kin to the wealthy Toronto lawyer had asked that the clause be upset on the ground it was against public policy.

Mrs. Pauline Clarke, red-haired mother of nine children, appealed the Middleton judgment that illegitimate children were ineligible. Five of her children were born after Mrs. Clarke separated from her husband.

ARCHDUKE OTTO

Vienna, Feb. 23.—(Associated Press)—German objections to the possible restoration of the Hapsburgs in Austria was believed in diplomatic quarters today to have been the chief topic of a long conference between Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg and Konstantin von Neurath, Reich Foreign Minister.

A report, not confirmed, said Germany had proposed a four-power pact with Austria, Hungary and Italy. According to this version, Austria would be guaranteed independence and complete liberty from interference in its domestic affairs. The Vienna government reportedly would abandon any plans for restoration of the monarchy.

Vancouver Mad At CRCV Name

"British Columbia Regional" Is "Sop to Victoria," Says Tourist Association Official; Want Vancouver's Name Restored

Vancouver, Feb. 23.—"CRCV, British Columbia Regional," The new signature of CRCV radio station, which opened Tuesday. Vancouver is the only city in Canada with Canadian Broadcasting Corporation station, the name of which is not mentioned in the signature given before, during and after radio programmes emanating from it and over it. And Vancouver is beginning to ask "Why?"

Vancouver is losing, and will continue to lose thousands of dollars in publicity value as long as this "foolish" signature continues to be used for its national radio station, declared R. A. Hutchison, secretary manager of the Vancouver Tourist Association. Mr. Hutchison intimated the reason the name of Vancouver was left out of the signature was because the city receiving publicity, while it, Victoria, was not even on the national network. It is a sop by the CBC to Victoria, he declared. He has interviewed officials of the CBC, but has not been able to get any satisfaction, he said. In every other city in Canada equipped with a CBC broadcasting

The agreement will be tabled in the House of Commons here Thursday, when the budget is brought down by Mr. Dunning.

The accord will replace the 1932 agreement between the two governments.

Prime Minister King made formal announcement in the House of Commons of signing of the new trade treaty.

RUSSIA AND GERMANY
Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett Conservative leader, asked if the trade agreement between Canada and Russia and Canada and Germany would also be tabled before the budget was considered.

Mr. King said this would be answered by Mr. Dunning, who was not in his place but would probably be in the House tomorrow.

It is understood the budget debate will be adjourned until Tuesday of next week.

A Havas dispatch from London today quoted "well-informed circles" as saying the new treaty would provide tariff concessions for British textiles sold in Canada.

FLOOD IN LOWER MISSISSIPPI NOW

Associated Press
Natchez, Miss., Feb. 23.—The Mississippi River rolled its flood crest past Natchez toward the Gulf of Mexico at diminished speed today while an estimated 10,000 refugees, driven from their lowland dwellings in Louisiana and Mississippi, sought relief at highland stations. On the thirty-five-mile stretch of low levee between Point Breze and Deer Point in Louisiana's Concordia Parish, hundreds of workers fortified earthen embankments. A clear sky eased tension after hard week-end rains.

BOMBARDMENT SHAKES MADRID

Associated Press
Madrid, Feb. 23.—Madrid's defenders loosed a terrific bombardment today in a sudden, sweeping attempt to blast insurgents out of their closely-drawn siege lines after reports that the insurgent Aragon spearhead had cut nearly through to the sea near Valencia. Windows of Madrid's high buildings shook to the booming of guns as government batteries leaped into action. Sandwiched between the heavy cannonading was the chatter of rifle and machine guns, heard clearly in the centre of the city.

The fighting was heaviest in the Casa del Campo and University City suburban districts to the west and northwest of the city proper. The Ustra sector and other strategic areas too were swept by the government guns.

Some of the heavier explosions exploded in the city.

The name of that city is always coupled with the station's signature, he said. Why should Vancouver be discriminated against? asked Mr. Hutchison. "CRCV British Columbia Regional" doesn't mean a thing to thousands of radio fans who listen in," said Mr. Hutchison.

"Some listeners living outside the province are beginning to ask 'Where on earth is Regional?'" "The new signature is bound to have its effect in the fan mail which radio artists receive. There will be a tremendous amount of publicity lost to Vancouver in that alone."

would not be completed in the year. This sum was included in the vote for engineer services and works and was to provide for construction of gun emplacements near Esquimalt, Victoria, Vancouver, Prince Rupert and off Johnson Strait.

CADET TRAINING

The vote for cadet training encountered the usual opposition from C.C.F. members who suggested grants for physical training would be better. Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.P.O.-Labor, Grey-Bruce, Ont., moved to reduce it from $140,000 to $1, but the motion was defeated.

EXPORT CONTROL

Greater control over export of munitions from Canada and an increasing manufacture of munitions in government-owned plants were forecast by Mr. Mackenzie during the discussion yesterday evening.

The increased estimates contain provisions for improving facilities for munitions manufacture at Valcartier and the Dominion arsenal at Quebec, and a considerable proportion of the money earmarked for munitions would be spent in those government-owned plants, the minister said.

Owing to the delay in obtaining deliveries from overseas and for other reasons the government planned to have as much as possible of the needed supplies made in Canada. It was doubtful, however, if government-owned plants could fill the requirements and a policy of co-operation was suggested.

The Best GRAY HAIR Remedy is Made at Home
YOU can now make at home a better gray hair remedy than you can buy, by following this simple recipe: To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, a small box of Orlon Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any drugstore can put this up for you and mix it yourself at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. Orlon imparts color to streaked, faded or gray hair, makes it soft and glossy and takes years off your looks. It will not color scalp, is not sticky or greasy—does not rub off.

tion with private industry would be followed, he said.

TO PREVENT PROFITEERING

In purchases from private industry, the principle of competition could be used to avoid undue profits on about 40 per cent of the supplies, and for the remaining 20 per cent, where production was highly specialized, strict supervision would be exercised to guard against profiteering.

MACHINE GUNS

Consideration was being given to the manufacture of machine guns in Canada, and certain manufacturers were trying to obtain rights. The government had had a survey made to determine the possibility of supplying all its needs within Canada, but so far this was not possible.

SURVEYS MADE

To acquire complete information on possible utilization of Canadian industries in an emergency two committees had been conducting studies, said Mr. Mackenzie. One was an interdepartmental committee surveying the whole industrial field and the other the joint army, navy and air supply committee in the National Defence Department under the Master General of the Ordnance.

FIGURE MAINTAINED

The first test yesterday which found Liberals voting against the government came when, by 90 to 23, the administration voted down a motion to reduce the item of $2,814,500 for engineer services and works to $249,100. It was sponsored by Pierre Gauthier, Liberal, Portneuf, Que., and supported by eleven other Liberals, all C.C.F. members and most of the Social Crediters. Conservatives voted with the Liberal majority.

On a later vote, another Liberal, J. A. Verville, Lotbiniere, Que., voted with the dissenters, while J. F. Pouliot, Temiscouata, Que., voted for the item for stores and munitions, but was in favor of reducing other items.

Hunters Collect Cougar Bounty

Port Alberni, Feb. 23.—Bounties were collected by private hunters on twenty-one cougars killed during January, according to report from government agent's office here. In addition one wolf was brought in on which bounty was paid, and Game Warden A. Monk shot three more cougars, estimating the wild cat population by twenty-four for the month. One of the cougars killed was a large female carrying four unborn kittens, alive and mewing. Had the hunter bagged her after the kittens were born, he could have collected $20 on each of them as well as on the mother.

Special "Watchdog Sections" Are Created to Combat Increase in German Espionage

London, Feb. 23.—The admiralty and the war and air ministries have created "special watchdog sections" to combat an alarming increase of espionage and propaganda on behalf of Germany, The London Daily Herald said today.

"A sudden increase in German espionage and Nazi propaganda in this country has resulted in steps being taken by the government to counter the activities of agents who are anxious to sell Germany, and possibly other countries, details of Britain's rearmament plans," the newspaper said.

"Special watchdog sections of the army, navy and air ministries have taken the necessary steps doubly to safeguard rearmament secrets."

"In the propaganda field a watch is being kept on certain people in this country who are especially free with money when it comes to persuading others to sing the praises of the Nazis. The authorities also have noticed how a large number of invitations are being given to Britons to visit Germany."

"If a Briton is reasonably distinguished he is allowed to see Hitler, Gen. Goebbels and the reasons behind Germany's claim for restoration of her colonies. The aim of this increasing propaganda is to persuade Britain that Germany is a peaceful and well-governed nation."

MORE WORK IF NO FISH TRAPS

Commons Committee Hears
A. W. Neill's Statement
on Sooke

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The signature on the petition of employees of the Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Company, urging continuance of fish traps, was that of a pre-season employee who was employed as a government inspector of the same company's traps during the season, the Commons committee on marine and fisheries learned today.

A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni, questioned C. F. Goodrich, president of the company, was informed this employee worked for the company in preparing traps before the season opened on a part-time basis. When the season opened, he ceased this employment and acted as a government inspector on the same traps.

"Do you think that is a good thing?" Mr. Goodrich admitted he did not, but explained the man was a crippled war veteran, experienced in that work.

"Here you have a government employee over you and yet his livelihood really depends on this company," commented Mr. Neill.

Mr. Goodrich said he wished the man could be given full-time employment by the government. VALUE OF EQUIPMENT

The witness was examined on the value of equipment of the company which would be affected by cancellation of trap licenses. He stated yesterday floating equipment, which would be affected, cost $78,000, while items listed today at cost amounted to $47,000.

Mr. Neill suggested this would have a present value of half that, since part of the equipment was twenty-five years old.

Mr. Goodrich agreed the cost might be reduced by 25 or 30 per cent for present value. WORK FOR MORE

Mr. Neill learned that not all the company's employees owned houses at Sooke Harbor, but several lived in Victoria. He pointed out only 116 dependents were involved, not 300 as had been stated in a brief. He contended that if traps were prohibited, more work would be provided, not less, than at present, by using other fishing methods.

plosions sounded like aerial bombs, apparently dropped south of the city. While Madrid struggled thus to shake itself loose from three and one-half months of siege, Gen. Francisco Franco's Aragon troops were reported to have attacked Viver, only thirty-four miles northwest of Valencia and about twenty miles from the Mediterranean coast.

TO CUT OFF CATALONIA

The objective of the Aragon drive was to sever government territory around Valencia from that of the government ally, autonomous Catalonia to the northeast, a chief source of strength.

OVIEDO BATTLE

Far to the northwest on the Oviedo front near the Bay of Biscay, reports from headquarters at Gijon said, government troops renewed attacks on San Esteban de la Cruz and Cristo de las Cadenas, on the outskirts of Oviedo, and met a desperate insurgent resistance.

Insurgent guns defending Oviedo opened fire from Marazul Mountain, raising shells into government positions while government artillery battered at the Santo Domingo College and Art Centre.

The government claimed hits when thick smoke arose from those buildings, indicating they had been set on fire. Government "dynamiters" dynamite throwers—bombed their way into the Buena Vista district, dislodging Oviedo's defenders from house after house.

TOWN SURROUNDED

Reports from Andujar in southern Spain declared government forces had surrounded the insurgent-held town of Pitres and captured positions at Treveles.

The push of Franco's men carried their Aragon salient several miles below the southern end of the old monarchical province now consisting of the provinces of Teruel, Zaragoza and Huesca, blocked from the Mediterranean on the northeastern coast by a large segment of government-held territory.

A successful thrust seaward at Viver possibly would place Valencia itself under siege. The Aragon offensive has been timed to coincide with an insurgent drive from southern Spain.

REBELS BOMB VALENCIA

Valencia, Spain, Feb. 23.—Insurgent air fleets dropped incendiary bombs on the port of Valencia today in two separate raids, causing only slight damage.

ALBERTA INTEREST CUT IS VETOED

This observation of Mr. Justice Ives was directed toward one feature of the interest reduction act which closed the courts of Alberta to lawsuits under its provisions.

ACTION OF FORESTERS

The test case was launched by the Independent Order of Foresters, Toronto, against the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District, whose bonds were guaranteed by the province and were subject to the general interest reduction. The claim was $5,430, which was granted the Toronto fraternal organization.

In part, the Ives judgment reads: "Here the plaintiff is the owner of property and civil rights outside Alberta. This province has no power to limit those rights or their enforcement. To deny the plaintiff his right to bring an action in our courts would clearly enable the province to do indirectly what it cannot do directly, viz: modify the (federal) Interest Act."

DECLARED ULTRA VIRES

"The provincial Securities Interest Act clearly has but one purpose and deals with but one matter, the reduction of interest. That is its pith and substance. It is not severable and it is wholly ultra vires of the powers of the Legislature."

The effect of the Ives judgment is to compel the province to pay the contract interest rates on provincial bonds, treasury bills, savings certificates and guaranteed securities.

There was no immediate comment from the government. Premier William Aberhart and Attorney-General Hugh Bell being busy with a caucus of Social Credit members of the Legislature here today.

If the government decides to pass legislation to take the place of the two enactments outlawed by the court, it could accomplish it quickly at the session of the Legislature set to open Thursday.

DOUGLAS, ALASKA, DESTROYED BY FIRE

Seattle, Feb. 23.—Flames borne by a southeast gale, early today virtually destroyed the beautiful little residential town of Douglas, Alaska, the coastguard cutter Tallapoosa wireless division headquarters here.

The town, named by Captain Vancouver, the British explorer, was virtually gone at 8 a.m., the message said. The fire departments of Douglas and Juneau were aided by a working party from the Tallapoosa, but a wireless dispatch from Juneau at 7 a.m. stated the fire was taking everything in its path. The cause of the blaze was undetermined.

The first started at 5:30 a.m. in Mike Pusich's Drexler recreation centre in the heart of the business district, and within thirty minutes half the town was threatened. Two hours later, the Tallapoosa wireless stated that virtually the entire town had been destroyed.

Raps Rural School Boards

R. L. Maitland Tells Teachers B.C. Administration Is "Nonsensical"

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 23.—R. L. Maitland, K.C., told a meeting of 1,000 British Columbia and Washington State educationists yesterday evening the present system of administration of public schools in rural districts of this province was "nonsensical" when it allowed careers of teachers and pupils to be "affected by petty squabbles in individual school boards."

"British Columbians will shortly have to decide whether their country schools will continue to be managed on today's very democratic system of control by school boards or in orderly fashion by people who know their business," Mr. Maitland said, addressing the banquet which officially opened Education Week in Vancouver.

"It is a ridiculous situation to have schools controlled by people who know nothing about education," he said.

ON BROADER BASIS
Mr. Maitland appealed for broader education, available "as his perfect right" to every child. He urged teachers to inculcate in every youthful mind a desire and longing for peace.

While the cost of education in British Columbia was more than $10,000,000 annually, he considered it returned higher dividends than any other provincial investment because it was working for the future.

Hon. Eric W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, said that by proper co-operation between school and home the most beneficial results of education could be accomplished.

ARMY PLANES BEING TESTED

Difficulties Met in Ontario
With Machines From England Being Overcome

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 23.—Ten airplanes for military use were delivered to the Department of National Defence in the twelve months previous to February 1, 1937. Defence Minister Mackenzie told the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in answer to a question from J. R. MacNicol, Conservative, Toronto-Davenport.

Four Blackburn "Shark 11" torpedo-spotter reconnaissance aircraft were ordered in 1935, but delivered during the period in question, the minister replied. Three airplanes of the same type were ordered in April, 1936, but delivery has not been made.

Six Westland "Wapiti 11A" day bombers aircraft were purchased from the British Air Ministry in 1935 and also delivered in Canada during the twelve months previous to February 1. They were used machines.

SHORT FLIGHTS
Three of the Shark aircraft were sent to the Dominion air force at Trenton, Ont., and eight, six and a half and five flying hours respectively have been credited to the planes since they were sent to Trenton, the report said.

In answer to the query as to whether any of the planes were defective, the reply said: "Some not unexpected difficulties have arisen, partly due to the Canadian winter climate and partly to inexperience with this equipment on the part of Royal Canadian Air Force personnel. These matters are being righted."

Give Cubmaster Good Send-off

Last week, cubs and cubmasters of the St. Paul's, Esquimalt, first and second packs, held a combined meeting and bun feed in the pack den, where they wished a good-bye and good luck to Brian Ruffell, cubmaster of the second pack and assistant cubmaster of the first pack, who left on Friday for England.

Miss Vic Hetherington was welcomed as new cubmaster of the second pack. The meeting opened with a flag-break and grand horn, followed by games. Later, the cubs all sat around the fire for a bun feed. At the end of the business session Arthur Bates was promoted to sinner of the Green Six of the first pack.

Rev. A. Bichelager, scoutmaster of the troop, presented Brian Ruffell with a brush set on behalf of the packs. Miss Doris Acreman introduced Miss Hetherington.

Edward Garnett, Author, Passes

Associated Press
London, Feb. 23.—Edward Garnett, eighty-eight, author and close associate of the late Joseph Conrad, the late John Galsworthy and the late D. H. Lawrence, died Sunday. He was author of several novels and edited editions of the letters of Conrad and Galsworthy.

Handful of Snow May Heat House for Year

Professor Findlayson Sees Atomic Energy "Demonstrate Superman Or Cause Sociological Upheaval"

A breath of air would operate a plane continuously.
A handful of snow would heat a large apartment house for a year.
The pastebore of a railway ticket would run a heavy passenger train several times around the world.

A cupful of water would turn the turbines of a giant power house.
These are cold, scientific facts which Professor J. N. Finlayson, dean of the faculty of applied science, University of British Columbia, told the University Extension Society in the Girls' Central School yesterday evening, would happen, if the energy of an atom were released.

Atomic energy would change lead to gold and in its change the lead would enormously exceed the value of the resultant gold, the professor said.
He did not think that the release of atomic energy was such a wild dream, but he warned that its release would cause an industrial revolution which would make the disruption of the present mechanized world appear like a minor adjustment.

Coal mines and oil wells would be valueless. Dams and transmission lines would be as outmoded as stage coaches. Food might be synthesized. Conventional economics would be destroyed. The release of atomic energy would call for international planning, Professor Finlayson said.

"If man does master atomic energy, it will cause a tremendous sociological upheaval," he declared, "but on the other hand, atomic energy may demonstrate the superman."

Professor Finlayson was speaking on Science in the Modern Age, which was one of a series of lectures under the auspices of the University Extension Society on the Georgian Period (1910 to 1936). The professor pointed out that the rate of travel from the time of Julius Caesar to that of Queen Victoria had remained more or less constant, so that the last quarter century had been a marvelous period from the point of view of science.

He was not so much concerned with inventions and discoveries as their effect on civilization. He quoted the views of a number of authors. Samuel Butler had written of an explorer who had been arrested in Erewhon (nowhere backwards) for looking at a watch. His crime was that he had a bit of machinery.

Forrest saw a woman with a face as white as fungus sitting in a hexagonal room shaped like an insect cell where there was a radiance but no lights, where the air was pure but there were no windows, and, in front of her, rows of buttons. Close by her was a book, a relic of the past, but it was a book of the machine—a key to the buttons.

All effort had been banished from the world, and the inhabitants sat in these underground chambers, pushing buttons.
But a day came when the technicians who ran this world failed and the radiance began to fade. The inhabitants searched their books and prayed, but it was not prayers the machine needed, but oil.

Opposed to these gloomy prophets were Henry Ford who trumpeted that the machine would liberate man from brute burdens and give him time for spiritual things. Professor Finlayson declared.

And Charles A. Beard could see no decline in civilization, while Stanley Lee proclaimed that in machinery was poetry and beauty. Will Durant saw everywhere the wonder of invention growing, striking the shackles of 100 men at once.

NO CHANGE IN MAN
Professor Finlayson noted that an impartial observer had said that he doubted if there had been any change in the biological structure of man since the last ice age.

The science dean briefly sketched the history of the rise of the machine. The first half span of human existence passed without the invention of a tool of any sort. Then came the cudgel and the pointed stick, and for 500,000 years man used crude stone implements.

The ability to light fires was the greatest invention of all time, the professor declared. It signified that the ascendancy of the brute was gone, and the age of man had arrived.

But it was not till Galileo that man discovered that fire was energy.
Today every American had power equal to a hundred slaves, Professor Finlayson said. The freeman of the city states of Greece had only two slaves.

The five most important machines of today and their various efficiencies were listed by the professor as follows: Reciprocating steam engine, 5 per cent; steam turbine, 25 per cent; gas engine, 30 per cent; diesel engine, 35 per cent; and water turbine, 90 per cent.

Hydro-electric power was not sufficient, Professor Finlayson felt, where—to the harnessing of the sun, to the billion-volt energy of the cosmic rays, and to the splitting of the atom.

J. L. Watson was in the chair.

New Freedom Of Speech in China

Chiang Also Announces
Amnesty For Political Prisoners

Canadian Press from Havas
Shanghai, Feb. 23.—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek took another step toward unification of China yesterday by announcing almost complete liberty of press and opinion and an amnesty for all political prisoners willing to abandon their anti-government activities.

The generalissimo definitely excluded Communist propaganda from his pronouncement regarding freedom of speech. Other public expressions which will not be permitted are those endangering the security of the state or public order, revelation of military or diplomatic secrets, and spreading false news.

Chiang's proclamation followed the ending of the sessions of the Kuomintang's central executive committee at Nanking. The Nationalist party executive proclaimed its determination to co-operate peacefully with Japan as far as possible and to serve for internal unity.

Canadian Prison Costs Are Studied

Commons Told Per Capita
Daily Figure in B.C. Is
$3.58, at Kingston, Ont.,
$1.74 and at Collins Bay,
Ont., $4.43

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The per capita daily cost of maintenance of prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries ranges from $4.43 at Collins Bay down to $1.74 at the Kingston penitentiary, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, indicated in a reply tabled in the House of Commons yesterday.

The average cost for all penitentiaries is $2.23. Others are: St. Vincent de Paul (Quebec), $1.85; Dorchester (Quebec), $2.11; Manitoba, $2.84; British Columbia, $3.58, and Saskatchewan, $2.56.

The highest cost at Collins Bay was partly due to capital expenditures on buildings and equipment. The last annual report of the superintendent of penitentiaries shows, while actual maintenance of convict costs from 34 cents at Dorchester to 44 cents at British Columbia, capital expenditures per capita range from 14 cents at Kingston to $1.05 at British Columbia and $1.38 at Collins Bay.

Staff and administration costs vary almost as widely from 97 cents a day a prisoner at St. Vincent de Paul and $1.10 at Kingston to $2.24 at Collins Bay.

PRISON POPULATION 3,124

On January 31, 1937, Mr. Lapointe stated 3,124 prisoners were confined in Canadian penitentiaries as follows: Kingston 719, St. Vincent de Paul 835, Dorchester 364, Manitoba 291, Saskatchewan 390, British Columbia 275, Collins Bay 202. In addition there were 123 prisoners on the register of the different penitentiaries but not included in the above total.

Gift Memorial To Charles Mattson

Associated Press
Seattle, Feb. 23.—Children's Orthopedic Hospital officials yesterday said J. P. Weyerhaeuser, father of George Weyerhaeuser, kidnapped but returned two years ago, had contributed to the hospital memorial fund in memory of Charles Mattson, ten killed last month by a kidnapper. The amount was not announced. The Mattson boy, son of a Tacoma physician, was found murdered near Everett.

Why the Silence?

THERE ARE ONE OR TWO NEWS-papers in Canada that seem to think it incumbent upon them to try to run the defence of the British Empire from this side of the Atlantic. The morning paper, for example, two or three times a week works itself up into a veritable frenzy over the question. It reminds us of Great Britain's colossal rearmament plan and says:

The defence programmes of Canada and Great Britain are oceans apart. The one is a piecemeal policy devised for "ourselves alone" and almost valueless in that respect. The other considers not only home defence but the needs of the Empire as a whole, and the conclusion is, so far as this country is concerned, that Canada, more in the future than ever in the past, will enjoy whatever international prestige she has simply as a part of the British Empire. She will add little or no strength to the imperial body politics in the matter of Empire defence and must go on relying almost wholly on Great Britain for her ability to pursue her peaceful avocations without foreign interference.

There is evidence of almost disgusting narrow-mindedness in the debate at Ottawa on the subject of defence. The statement that this country is not relying on Great Britain for her defence is a pitiful nonsense. The Dominion will rely on Great Britain even more in the future than in the past. The addition of some $15,000,000, or $15,000,000, to the expenditure on national defence is a mere drop in the bucket of security, and that this appropriation should arouse a debate on Canada's foreign policy, to say nothing of her place in the Empire, is an exhibition of intense parochialism.

An Associated Press dispatch from Ottawa, under date of February 19, printed on the front page of The Colonist, read as follows: "The House of Commons tonight rallied behind the government on its defence programme after a strong defence from Prime Minister Mackenzie King and a few revelations of the history of the increased appropriations. Mr. King said the present estimates for national defence would have been introduced last year but for the troubled international situation and the controversy surrounding Canada's position regarding oil sanctions against Italy."

The same dispatch told us that "not a single Conservative member spoke during the four-day debate, and most of the argument was between Liberals, some few of whom were opposed to the increased defence estimates but not prepared to vote want of confidence in the government."

It will be observed that the government of Mr. Mackenzie King is pursuing a course in the matter of defence which does not appear to have stirred even the faintest criticism or opposition from the members of the party which The Colonist supports, in season and out of season. The Conservative opposition having the advice of former Premier Bennett—only just returned from a tour of the empire during which he naturally had many chats with the powers that be in the various Dominions and in Britain—probably had been instructed to say nothing, that the King programme was about as much as Canada could afford at the present time.

On top of this surmise, incidentally, rests the suggestion that if the Conservative opposition had said much about the largely increased defence vote introduced by Hon. Ian Mackenzie King, some Liberal member with a long memory might have trotted out the history of that dicker between the Conservatives and the Quebec Nationalists in 1911 which insured the election of Sir Robert Borden and the jettisoning of the naval programme laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier—a piece of legislation which would have given Canada a navy in 1914 that would have enabled this coast to have put the thumb of scorn to the nose of derision from the Leipzig and other units of Admiral von Spee's fleet were hovering menacingly off Pacific shores.

Then again, the few newspapers that want to conduct the naval policy of the British Empire from one or two remote points of this country are the very newspapers that continually harp upon the high cost of taxation, the high cost of government, and trot out all the ditties about economy of which we hear so much but which are unaccompanied by any practical means of affecting it.

When Canada votes an additional $15,000,000 for defence it is only reasonable for the taxpayer to inquire where the money is coming from. At the end of March, 1914, Canada's net debt stood at a little less than $560,000,000, with a population of 8,095,000 to meet the obligation. The Dominion's net debt now is nearly $2,700,000,000, with a population of a little more than 11,000,000 holding the bill—and about 1,000,000 Canadians drawing relief in one form or another. But because the Parliament of Canada does not feel able to do more than double its appropriation for defence purposes it is judged guilty of "an exhibition of intense parochialism." Small wonder, however, that not a single Conservative opposition member spoke during the four-day debate.

Man's Dilemma

TWO YEARS AGO SKILLED DOCTORS performed a miracle on the body of middle-aged Joseph Krcmar. This man was suffering from what looked like the very last stages of angina pectoris. His chances of living more than a few weeks, and the doctor told him so without any hesitation, were not "worth a nickel." There was just one chance, and it was a "thousand-to-one shot."

Dr. Claude S. Beck, of Cleveland's Lakeside Hospital, had been experimenting on animals with an operation designed to cure angina pectoris. He hoped that it would work with human beings, but he was not sure. Would Mr. Krcmar submit to it? He might die under the knife—but he would most certainly die anyway, in a very short time, if nothing were done.

Mr. Krcmar took the chance. An epoch-making operation was performed. A muscle from his left arm was grafted on to his weakened heart. He survived the operation, spent four months in hospital—and, at last, returned to his home cured, a man who had come back to life from the very gates of death.

If the story ended there it would be all very pretty. But real-life stories do not stop with the happy ending of fiction. They keep on going, and sometimes the original happy ending is snowed under.

So it was with Mr. Krcmar. Restored to health, he faced the task of providing for his wife and their three small children—and he could not get a job. The family was on relief when he went to the hospital; since then he has struggled in vain to find a job that would get them off relief and keep them permanently.

He got one job—and it paid him only $5 a week, not nearly enough to make the family self-supporting. At present he is out of work and he sees no immediate prospect of changing that status. He says: "Lucky? Well, they say wealth isn't everything. I know now that health isn't, either."

This little story well exemplifies the dilemma into which modern man has blundered. He can master the physical world as never before. He can whip foes that were unconquerable a short time ago. With his science he can perform all sorts of miracles. But the task of arranging his own society so that any man who is able and willing to work can support his family in decent comfort—that seems to be beyond him.

What good does it do to snatch a man back from the jaws of death if the man has no opportunity to make a living after he gets back?

Strike Cost

THE DREARY TASK OF computing the cost of the General Motors sit-down strike is still going on. Tangible figures are hard to get, because so much of the loss does not reduce readily to dollars and cents; but one of the most conservative estimates puts the cash loss at about $84,000,000, divided equally between workers and stockholders.

Add to that the losses suffered by other companies which had to close down or go on part-time operations because of the stoppage of General Motors orders, and we have a bill that must go well over $100,000,000.

Rather a high price to pay, is it not, for society's failure to devise some system of mediation that would have brought strikers and management together at the very start, instead of after two months of struggle?

Spring's Harbinger

POETS MAKE A GREAT DEAL of to-do about snowdrops and crocuses and Johnny-jump-ups and other early flowers that rise to greet the spring.

But for some obscure reason they are stubbornly silent about the earliest of all spring flowers. This hardest harbinger of the returning sun burgesons while their tenderer growth is still coiled under last autumn's withered leaves; it thrusts its pointed purple spathe right up through stiff-frozen soil.

True, this earliest spring flower has little grace of form or delicacy of tint. Even truer still, it has naught of Orient odor to be wafted on vernal zephyrs to the receptive poetic nose.

For the earliest of all spring flowers is the skunk cabbage.

Notes

A husband is a man who cannot stand a dirty, unkempt house, except when his wife is away for a week or so.

A Maine guide says deer are vain creatures, always looking at themselves in pools. Perhaps they are trying to figure out why hunters should be mistaken for them.

Pity the poor Hollywood movie stars! One receiving $500,000 a year salary now has to pay $304,144 of it as federal income taxes, after which the California state tax takes $65,575 more—leaving the cinema worker only $130,281 of his or her original $500,000.

In the village of Harpenden, Hertfordshire, England, there has just died at the age of ninety-one one who once said he was afraid to die "a disgracefully rich man." He gave hundreds of thousands of pounds to charity. He apparently was actuated by fine instincts. And, of course, it all boils down to the fact that you can't take it with you when you die.

The House of Keys, the Isle of Man's Parliament, has temporarily put itself out of business. For the first time in many years, there is no bill on the agenda, and the twenty-four members are having a holiday from law-making. How many of the taxpayers of Canada would wish their provincial Legislatures might be faced occasionally with the same "predicament."

Loose Ends

The lean men in fur coats look pretty grim on the prairies these days—and no wonder, when you see what is happening to their soil—and to their crops—And thereby hangs a mighty question for Canadians to ponder.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

PRAIRIE

OUTSIDE THE WINDOW NOW the vast flat sweep of the prairies spins like a giant plate, the outer rim of it turning clockwise as we bowl along at sixty. This is southern Saskatchewan, the Bread Basket, the heart of our Canadian economy, the drought region, the Dust Bowl. This, and not British Columbia, as we sometimes imagine, is the overshadowing economic problem of our country.

Look at this endless sweep of land, utterly flat, bare, lonely, between the Lakes and the Mountains. No one has ever been able to put down in words the hardness of it, the loneliness of it, the unfriendliness, the surging fertility, the cold cleanliness. In our British Columbia cities, on Granville Street, on Douglas Street, a man can feel quite important, jostling his fellows. Out here on the prairie no man can feel important. On the bare, flat bosom of the naked prairie soil he is a minute insect, crawling. His largest cities, Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg, are impudent dark specks on this immensity, like the traces of files on a china plate.

Yet the insects crawling here, the hardy, long-suffering prairie folk, have nibbled away with the incredible persistence of their kind, into this complacent soil. For millions of years it lay untouched, growing more fertile as its grasses died down to enrich it, and yet in half a century or a little more, men have been able to undo the work of the ages. They have ploughed the rich, pregnant earth and it has cropped year after year so faithfully that there seemed to be no end of its fecundity.

Now, little by little, the millions of years of stored-up goodness in the earth is running out. The soil, which held the earth against wind and water, is gone, and the soil, worked thin, drained of humus, is blowing away. Two years ago, sitting at the window of a Wall Street skyscraper, I watched a fine brown dust sweep in through the cracks, smudge the stenographer's pretty nose. That dust came from the prairies, part of it from this same Saskatchewan, which is blowing away. Once, they say, the Sahara and the Gobi were like the prairie land, but men cultivated them into desert.

LEAN MEN

ON THE STATION PLATFORMS of these prairie towns men stand about in thick Mackinaws or brown fur coats that make them look like grizzlies. Their faces are lean, hard, deep-lined by cold and heat. These are the men who crawl about on the flat sweep of the Dust Bowl. They are the men who sow and reap Canada's crops. The whole economy of the country is built on the safety of their crops, and their investments, on their ploughs in the spring, their binders in the fall.

We live on them largely. They take the real wealth out of the soil, handling an actual substance that the human family needs. Most of us handle only bits representing this wealth. We deal in the mere shadows of reality. They are the producers. We are the entrepreneurs, the middle men, the money changers. And we, who only gamble on paper, usually make more profit than the men who produce the wealth itself.

Thousands of these lean men here on the prairies have to work in their windy fields, have to freeze in the winter and sweeter in the summer dust, have to inhabit these unpainted shacks with their cold and primitive sanitary arrangements, to support many of the wealthy people of Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Victoria. Many a Victorian, playing his golf at Oak Bay or Cowichan this afternoon, can thank these lean homeless prairie men for that pleasure.

The lean men don't like it much. You can hear their complaints in their legislatures, their city councils. They are complaining that the economy of Canada is top-heavy; that they, on the bottom, don't get enough out of it, while those on top get too much. Their governments find it impossible to pay their debts without assistance from Ottawa. There is talk of default, which is only stopped by federal grants. There are such strange fungus growths as the Alberta Government of Alberta, concerning which the fellows I met in Calgary last night laughed sourly, saying that, of course, no one seriously expected Social Credit to come to anything, but it was good for winning one election. In Ottawa there is angry debate and stirring among the prairie members. In Winnipeg, The Free Press keeps hammering at the tariff, trying to get the grain of these prairies into world markets, trying to get the farmers' imports into Canada at lower prices.

THEN WHAT?

THE LEAN MEN'S WHEAT means much to Canada now, may mean much more a little later on. For this grain from the grim, snow-covered fields yonder goes for upon the seas of the world; goes to foreign nations that depend upon it for their daily bread. Soon the nations may be at war. One group may, probably will, try to stop this grain from going to another group, for grain is as much a munition of war in these times as shells or explosives.

Then what will the lean men think about it? Can they stop shipping their grain? Will they decline the new wealth of high war prices which warring nations are eager to pay? Can they live at all if the flow of their grain is interrupted? And if it is interrupted, will the lean men, and those who depend on them, want to go to war about it?

There, in a nutshell, stripped of all the fancy politics, the glittering economics and a thick coating of ballyhoo, is the overshadowing question before Canada. That, though some of them may not know it, is what the politicians are debating in Ottawa today, when they ponder the problem of Canadian defence.

The lean men haven't found all this out yet. All they know is that they are hungry, even with wheat at its present price, thousands of them on relief, crippled, drought-ridden for years. The lean men know that and they look pretty grim on the station platforms these days.

Think no evil of the man afraid of his wife. Fear of her opinion keeps him in paths of virtue.

No wonder conversation is a lost art. You cannot converse without somebody who will shut up and listen.

You can tell a gentleman. He is the gentle and considerate fellow whose acquaintances regard him as an easy mark.

"There's no fool like an old fool" is not true. He just seems remarkable because you did not think it was in him.

Extra-Inch Seating For Peereesses at Coronation

LONDON. EACH PEER and Peeres attending the Coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey will be allowed an inch more seating space than spectators of lower rank.

Members of the peerage have been allotted nineteen inches by the Office of Works. Others, both inside the Abbey and the 80,000 specially invited guests who will occupy grandstands outside, and on the procession route, will only be permitted to occupy eighteen inches of space each.

An Office of Works official said: "We are giving peers and peereesses an extra inch to allow for their flowing robes."

"They will be given chairs so spaced that each occupant will have nineteen inches of sitting room."

"Our architect and his staff, after working it out most carefully, have decided that they cannot concede another fraction of an inch to anybody. But there should be no discomfort."

Every plank used in the grandstands will, during the days preceding the Coronation, be marked off in eighteen-inch divisions.

Workmen in a "seating test" discovered they could sit in comfort on eighteen inches of space.

THEY DIFFER

Dressmakers and court tailors differ about the adequacy of the Office of Works' "yardstick." One dressmaker said: "It is not enough. Many women have twenty-inch hips. With men it is the shoulders that take up room."

Other dressmakers considered the Office of Works' space rationing ample. Many theatres allowed eighteen inches to gallery patrons before the introduction of the tip-up seat.

Coronation Day will see mass feats of endurance.

An official of the College of Arms said: "If the procedure of the 1911 Coronation of the late King George is followed, Abbey spectators must be prepared to sit still and silent for anything up to eight hours."

"Users have been warned to be in their places at 8.30 o'clock in the morning. The ceremonial will probably begin at 10.30 o'clock and will not finish until about 9 o'clock."

Outside spectators must be prepared to remain in their eighteen-inch seats even longer to see the return procession.

SOLDIERS GET GLORY, OTHERS GET PROFITS

To the Editor:—In spite of all the carefully-planned propaganda, the fact remains that the possibility of a real war is very remote, for the dictators and other leaders in all countries know only too well the seething discontent among the masses, which, once the lid is lifted by war, might very easily burst into revolt.

They know also, that a major war, would inevitably end in the rapid and complete downfall of the present economic order.

When all is said and done, too, though the soldiers may get the doubtful glory and the dictators the kudos, it is the big armament trusts who reap the profits.

But one way to have peace and that is to disarm. And were the British Empire and the U.S. to do so, it would be but a very short time ere the other nations followed suit, for the masses crave peace and economic security and groan beneath a burden of debt and increasing taxation.

In a world crazed with the fear of war, we need counselors of peace, not strife; calm and sane thinking; not hysteria.

Gardening

GROWING PLANTS IN WATER

EASY

For those junior gardeners who have not already tried growing plants in water, this form of gardening may be found interesting as well as educational.

In a recent article in an eastern journal on potatoes, Miss Frances M. Miner, of the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, mentioned the suitability of growing the common white potato as well as the sweet potato in water to produce decorative vines. Another vegetable which may be grown in a similar manner is the carrot. This produces interesting fern-like leaves in the course of a few weeks. For this purpose use a good-sized carrot with all the tops removed, and cut about two inches from the root. Then set the upper section of the carrot in a shallow dish of stones or pebbles filled with water, or just plain water.

English ivy also is well adapted to water culture in the house. But it thrives best in a cool location away from direct heat. Any type of glass jar will serve for this purpose, the size depending upon the quantity of ivy to be grown.

Then, too, there are the bulbous plants, such as the paper white narcissus and hyacinths, which many girls and boys already have planted and brought to bloom. To take their place, the various types of wandering Jew are plants which may be grown easily and which have interesting foliage.

Another beautiful and fast-growing vine which will do nicely either in soil or water is the philodendron. Pothos has a similar heart-shaped leaf with yellow spots, although it is not so fast-growing or hardy as the philodendron.

The Chinese evergreen is tolerant in water even if it does not get much light, and sometimes lives for years in water. Place the long shoots in a vase or bottle of water. It may not produce as many leaves when grown in water as in soil.

To keep the water sweet it would be well to keep a small piece of charcoal in the container.

Parallel Thoughts

Who shall offer it before the Lord, and make an atonement for her; and she shall be cleansed from the issue of her blood. This is the law for her that hath born a male or a female—Leviticus xii, 7.

Of all the joys that lighten suffering earth, what joy is welcomed like a new-born child?—Mrs. Norton.

DEPLORES CLERICAL ATTITUDE

To the Editor:—The B.C. Health Bill has landed on the rocks. I cannot but believe that almost 100 per cent of the people affected by the act are glad it is so.

It is strikingly strange that it was the doctors who pointed out to the government that it was not humanitarian legislation, inasmuch as it made no provision for the indigent class. All honor to the medical fraternity for its stand in this regard. Yet surely it is to be deplored that clergy of Victoria did all in their power to have the people accept the act as it stands. Yet it is to be assumed that the majority of the clergy would not be affected by the act. Had they been in the bracket affected they, no doubt, would not have been so keen to see it go into operation. They do not want to be registered with the common herd.

Today, the only insurance it affords is that the man of $1,800 or less, will pay his hospital bill.

OSERVER.

"MYSTERIOUS" WAY?

To the Editor:—We are told that "God works in mysterious ways His wonders to perform." "Mysterious" very, but it is not mysterious why pro-war preachers, priests and bishops are not slaughtered on the battlefields, sharing the fate of many soldiers to be eaten by buzzards and rats, when the cannon feast is finished. The clerics are too intelligent, too knowing. I ask them to throw away hypocrisy. If they dare, and speak.

Clerics have, for close on 2,000 years, held the brain of vast portions of the human race in their hands, and all this time have preached:

How to Ease a Cold Quickly

Get Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving "Aspirin." Take 2 Tablets

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two "Aspirin" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three "Aspirin" tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

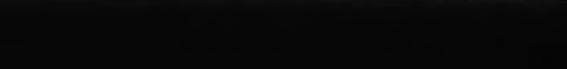

The "Aspirin" you take internally will act to combat fever, cold pains and the cold itself. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain, acting like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is quick, effective and ends the taking of strong medicines for a cold.

● "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Eastern Star Hostesses At Party

About 200 members and friends enjoyed the Valentine dance and card party arranged by the Victoria Chapter No. 17, Order of Eastern Star, and held in the Shrine Auditorium last night.

The auditorium was gay with red Valentines and motifs and in the banquet hall, where a sit-down supper was served, Valentines and red tapers were used in the decorations. Spotlight dances, medleys and the playing of favorite dance hits as encores by Len Acres and his orchestra, all added in making the affair one of much fun, and an informal atmosphere reigned throughout the evening.

Mrs. A. H. Stoeer was the general convener and supervised the dance arrangements and Mr. A. Houston managed the card party. Both were assisted by willing committees. Prize-winners at the card game were as follows: Contract, Mrs. Fawcett; Mrs. P. A. Hobb; Mrs. R. Fleming; Mrs. W. W. Wilshire; and Mrs. M. Trippe; court whist, Mr. R. McKinnis, Mrs. Robillard and Mr. J. Jefferson.

Daffodil Tea Planned in April

King's Daughters To Hold Affair
At Miss Agnew's

Wednesday, April 14, was set as the tentative date for the King's Daughters' annual daffodil tea when the district meeting was held yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Wm. Russell presiding. Miss Agnew has again generously offered her home, "Schuhum," on Rockland Avenue, for the daffodil tea, and various attractions and a musical programme will be arranged. Mrs. L. H. Hardie reported on the provincial executive meeting, which she attended in Vancouver last month. At this meeting, plans were made for the provincial convention to be held at Duncan in April, when it will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the King's Daughters in British Columbia. The first circle was the Scattered Circle, founded by Mrs. Maitland-Dougal in Duncan.

Mrs. James Stewart, restroom convener, reported the rooms open twenty-five days with 1,353 patrons. Reports were received from six circles and work done included assistance to the Victorian Order of Nurses; pillow slips to the Jubilee Hospital; flowers to the restroom; a layette to a needy family, and books and magazines to a patient in Jubilee Hospital. All the circles are working towards the furnishing and equipment of a two-bed ward in the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan.

Silent tribute to the memory of the late Miss Clearhite was paid by the members. Regret was expressed at the absence of Mrs. R. A. Playfair, district secretary, through illness.

Listens To Others Talk

Gotham Girl Has Novel Way
Of Making Living

New York, Feb. 23.—The bright young woman who is making a living simply by being a good listener, has found love and loneliness are the public's biggest worries.

Miss Ulric Kay—She blazed a new trail in Gotham by listening when everybody else wanted to talk—decided today loneliness outranks love as a problem on Manhattan Island.

But next comes romance—the stenographers who fall hopelessly in love with the boss, and the man who decides his best friend's wife is the girl of his dreams.

They come to Miss Kay and unburden their woes. She doesn't do anything about it. She just listens.

You pay your money ($3 for an hour, $2 for a half hour), take your choice of the troubles that beset you, and get them off your chest to a willing ear.

The theory is what humanity wants isn't redress, but just a hearing. Miss Kay calls herself "a professional listener." Some of the men talk about the stock market, and seem deeply grateful because she doesn't interrupt. Her clients range from twenty to seventy-two, but are mainly middle-aged.

Left Fortune In Sugar Sacks

Salt Lake City, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Jennie Wood died last night at a hospital, and a few hours later police had carried from her modest grocery store rolls of currency that filled two suitcases.

There must be more than $50,000 here, Detective J. S. Bardole estimated.

The money was discovered by Attorney Joseph Jones and Dr. G. J. Albaugh, directed to the store in a note written by the proprietress shortly before she died.

The money in bills, gold coins, even pennies and nickels, was stowed away in salt and sugar sacks and other containers.

Women Get Big Service Jobs

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 23.—Five women have been appointed to administrative posts in Whitehall.

They are Miss Jennifer Williams, appointed to the Home Office; Miss Katharine Kennedy, to the Board of Education; Miss Mildred Hiddelsdell to the Ministry of Labor; Miss Elizabeth Stenson, to the Inland Revenue Department, and Miss Denise King, to the Board of Agriculture.

For years women have failed to win responsible posts in the civil service. The showing this year is welcomed in government circles, where it is felt women will be especially useful in departments concerned with women and children.

Saved Lives With Her Sari

Indian Heroine Is Rewarded In King's Honors List

London, Feb. 22 (Special Correspondence).—The heroism of a purdah woman, who saved five lives with her sari, was recognized in the King's Honors List, announced recently. The woman, Ashraf-un-Nisa Begum, wife of Lieut. Muzaffaruddin, has been awarded the medal of the Civil Division of the Order of the British Empire.

She was sitting with some forty-four other women and children in the purdah balcony—where no man may enter—of the Moti Mahal cinema, Hyderabad, when a fire broke out.

Both exits were cut off by the flames and the women, whose presence in the cinema had been forgotten, were driven to the front of their balcony.

Their only means of escape was to jump. But the leaping flames, smoke and darkness made this prospect terrifying.

Ashraf-un-Nisa Begum took command. Tearing off her sari, she wound it into a rope, tied it to the balcony railing and, one by one, lowered five women to safety.

Her own escape she left so late that she was forced to jump and hurt herself. Twelve women and two children, who remained on the balcony, were burned to death.

TELEPHONE GIRL HONORED
Telephone girls and secretaries also received recognition in the honors list. Both the supervisor of the London Telephone Service, Miss Hilda Wormald, and the chief superintendent of typists at the Dominions and Colonial Office, Miss E. M. Wallis, have been awarded the medal of the Civil Division of the Order of the British Empire.

A similar distinction has been bestowed upon Mrs. B. F. Leslie, who is a clerical executive at the British Embassy in Shanghai.

Services to nursing have won a coveted award for Lady Williams, honorary treasurer, Queen Charlotte's Anesthetic Fund. She has been made a dame commander of the Order of the British Empire.

Another such distinction has been awarded to Miss Evelyn Moriarty, lady superintendent, Queen Alexandra's Military Nursing Service for India. She has been made a member of the Order of the Royal Red Cross.

SUITE FOR PRINCESSES
A suite of five rooms, practically self-contained in every way, is being prepared in Buckingham Palace for Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose.

Instead of a nursery, furnished with toy cupboards and decorated with gay fairy-tale friezes, Princess Elizabeth is to have a study-sitting-room equipped with a workmanlike desk and bookcase.

Her nursery days are over and lessons from governesses and tutors demand schoolroom furnishings. However, still have a playroom and nursery. It will be quite separate, I understand, from her sister's study so that her games will not interrupt Princess Elizabeth's lessons.

Pale green, scarlet and white are the colors chosen provisionally for the playroom and the study. Princess Elizabeth is being allowed to choose the curtains for her room herself.

The Queen is also busy planning redecorations for her own suite of rooms in the palace. They will be on the second floor, near those of the princesses. No structural alterations are being made but the Queen is changing the color scheme. I understand, to her favorite soft rose-pink, cream, beige and warm brown.

Freak Wedding In a Cemetery

Canadian Press
Martinez, Calif., Feb. 23.—Freaks croaked dismally and everyone shivered as a young Oakland couple married in a cemetery here on a moonless night.

The newlyweds, who said they "did it for luck," were Thomas Dugan Jr., twenty-one, and Miss Melba Robinson, eighteen.

Rollo Ogden Of New York Dies

Editor-in-chief of New York Times Succumbs at 81

Associated Press
New York, Feb. 23.—Rollo Ogden, eighty-one, editor-in-chief of The New York Times, died yesterday in his hotel apartment.

Mr. Ogden contracted a heavy cold a little more than a week ago, but continued to go to his office until Monday of last week, when he went to his home. He continued his work at his apartment two days longer, but at the end of that period was forced to relinquish his duties. Death was attributed to a pulmonary congestion due to the cold.

Mr. Ogden was born at Sand Lake, N.Y., January 19, 1856, a son of Rev. Isaac Gray Ogden and his wife, formerly Miss Emma Huntington. He received his A.B. from Williams College in 1877 and attended Andover Theological Seminary 1877-79, and the Union Theological Seminary 1879-80.

He was ordained a Presbyterian minister in 1881 and served as associate pastor of the First Church, Cleveland, Ohio, in 1880-81. He worked as a missionary in Mexico City from 1881 to 1883, when he went back to Cleveland as pastor of the Case Avenue Church, serving there until 1887.

Mr. Ogden came to New York in 1887, and in 1891 joined the staff of The New York Evening Post. He became editor of the Post in 1903 and became associate editor of The New York Times in 1920, becoming chief editor of that newspaper in 1922.

HURRAH! TODAY 79 YEARS YOUNG!

"WELL, what of it—lots of men reach that age?" Oh, yes? And they "never had a sick day," they will tell you, but when I was fifty Sir William Osler told me I could not live four months, and all those fifty years I'd been physically an underling, and from 32 on a "down-and-out," always in the throes of pain, and disease. Then I took hold of what was left of myself and for 29 years I have climbed steadily until, as I write on my 79th birthday, I fully believe I stand on the very pinnacle of abounding health. And oh! the happiness of this exalted state of body and mind!

You must be in A1 condition to stand this.

"Believe it or not," life is, for me, one continuous jubilation. I run and walk, write books, travel and lecture, work and laugh. The days aren't long enough to suit me. "Believe it or not," I don't care a "whoop," but in all sincerity I assert I can help any and every reader whose organs are not already so degenerated or diseased as to be practically beyond repair, to the same state of exultant, ecstatic health and the successful life that must result therefrom.

Again "I don't care a whoop," how you decide, but I solemnly declare that, while my foods are not the sole means which I have made use of, a free use of Roman Meal,

He added, however, that extensive plans were being formulated for broadcasting both the service within the abbey and descriptions of the pageantry along the processional route between Buckingham Palace and Westminster.

He moved a supplementary estimate for £15,000 (£75,000) in connection with the Coronation preparations.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE
Q. How does one really discriminate between the people to whom wedding invitations are to be mailed, and those to whom announcements are sent?

A. Invitations are sent to the close friends whom one really wishes to attend the wedding. Announcements are mailed only to those not considered sufficiently close to be invited to the wedding. But never send an invitation and an announcement to the same person.

Q. What is the preferable way for a business man or woman to dispose of an unwelcome or tiresome caller?

A. One of the most effective ways is to rise from the chair.

Q. What is the usual dinner hour in American cities?

A. Seven o'clock.

NO BORSTAL SYSTEM

Ottawa, Feb. 23 (Canadian Press).—No steps will be taken by the government towards installation of the borstal system in Canadian penal institutions until the commission now investigating the prison system of Canada has made its report. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, told T. L. Church, Conservative Toronto-Bromwich, in a reply tabled in the House of Commons yesterday.

Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub have played a greater part in my regeneration and rejuvenation than all other means combined.

Hundreds of thousands have been similarly blest. Anyone who cares can prove that anything I say in words can only faintly portray the health benefits derivable from a free daily use of Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy, Lishus and Kofy-Sub, for say, two weeks. Take one or two full meals a day for a few consecutive days, note the full, free eliminations of the intestinal waste (if simultaneously you take no laxatives or enemas) and the resulting sense of daily increasing animation and well-being. You will then need no further proof of my claims. You will know this is your cheap, most certain road to bubbling, jubilant, ecstatic health. Most people fear disease. I defy it at 79. CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

I often do this "balancing act" on the lecture platform.

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

By DENNIS WHEATLEY
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service Inc.; William Morrow & Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British financier, aboard CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE's yacht, Detective Officer KETTERING runs into a maze of conflicting clues.

As the investigation progresses, Kettering learns from REGINALD JOCELYN that Rocksave possessed the best motive for the crime—financial gain. Moreover, he learned that Rocksave was able to dress for dinner in four minutes, a feat conceivably enabling him to commit a murder and return to the ship's lounge without creating suspicion. Only NICHOLAS STODART, Blane's secretary, has a complete alibi.

Confronted with Jocelyn's revelation Rocksave counters that Jocelyn, too, had a good motive. He, too, was a millionaire, and he was a miser. Furthermore, that Japanese agent, ENO-SUKE HAYASHI, stole a loss of a million dollars and Blane lived and conspired with a mercer with Rocksave, thereby killing the soap monopoly deal. Hayashi, at the same time, LADY WELTER becomes deeper involved when unable to account for her time when the crime was committed.

Hayashi, questioned again by Kettering, admits later that he was a soap monopoly, but denies murdering Blane. Then the BISHOP OF RUDE is called in for re-examination. He is confronted with his unsavory past and his old acquaintance with Blane; accuses him of murder. But the Bishop protests his innocence—without a shred of proof.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

Having examined all the parties, I proceed to a new analysis of the situation and composed a fresh draft of possible motives.

(POSSIBLE MOTIVES No. 2.) 9-1-37.

MRS. JOCELYN—Nil, as far as is known at the moment, but she is in collusion with her husband, supporting his statement that he was in his bath at 7.45, when we know that he was not, and she may or not have been in her room cabin at that hour.

COUNT POSODINI, ALIAS "SLICK"

DANIELS—A motive, in that he admits that it was through Blane's agency that he was sent down for his first term in Sing Sing, and that Jocelyn brought him on board with the deliberate intention of getting even with Blane. It is even possible that Jocelyn may have paid him to do the job, or that they did the job between them. His alibi depends on his being able to prove that Mrs. Jocelyn was in his cabin from 7.45 till 8.10, and this she denies.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE—Strong motive, and it is now proved, owing to his capability of changing in under four minutes, that he had ample time to commit the crime between 8.10 and 8.30.

THE BISHOP OF RUDE—Strong motive.

In the Bishop's previous statement he said that he had only met Blane casually in an English country house about seven years ago (1929), whereas he does not now deny that he met Blane in France in 1917.

Blane's letter shows that there was some strong tie-up between the two. It now seems certain that this was in connection with the unsavory business that the Bishop was holding this over him and as was ample opportunity for the Bishop to commit the crime—he now comes strongly under suspicion.

LADY WELTER—Strong motive, owing to the fact that it looks as though she would have been completely bankrupt if the Rocksave companies had gone under and no longer in a position to finance the group of papers which are her principal life interest.

MR. HAYASHI—Strong motive. It now appears that he stood to lose a considerable sum of money if Blane and Rocksave had ever got together.

MR. JOCELYN—Strong motive. Lady Welter's bankruptcy would have thrown him back into the precarious existence which he was leading before.

Who is Your Skinny Friend, Mary?

Tell him to take Cod Liver Oil for a couple of months to get enough good healthy flesh on his bones to look like a real man. Tell him it's the only thing to take to get those hollow cheeks and neck. Tell him he won't have to swallow the nasty oil with the nauseating, fishy taste because he can now get, at any good drugist, McCOY'S COD LIVER EXTRACT TABLETS, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

Any man or woman can put on 5 lbs. of healthy flesh in 30 days or the money is refunded. One woman put on 15 lbs. in 6 weeks. Children grow robust and strong, and feeble old people feel younger in a few weeks.

Fairy Hill Surprise Winner of $50,000 Santa Anita Derby

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

JUST HOW FAR Billy Buxton, Victoria's smart featherweight, had advanced along the jistic trail, will most likely be found out on the evening of March 2 in the ring of the Crystal Pool, Seattle. On that night, Billy will engage in a ten-round bout with Abie Israel, Washington State featherweight champion. In Israel, Buxton will go up against the toughest opposition he has faced in a Seattle ring. And in former fights there the local boy has been going six and four rounds.

With seven straight victories to his credit, including six knock-outs, Buxton has considerable prestige to look after. He has become exceptionally popular with the Seattle crowd and it is to be hoped he has not bitten off more than he can chew in Israel. The Jewish lad is no beginner and included in his fights is one title bout with Freddie Miller. However, in late months, Israel has been inactive and that should work to Buxton's favor. The Victoria boy was smart when he held out to make Israel enter the ring at 126 pounds. Abie had intended to fight at around 130, which would have given him a six-pound pull in the weights.

Giving a main event to Israel and Buxton is something new in Seattle. Except for Israel, it has been a long time since a boxer smaller than a lightweight has headlined a card there. One must go back to the days of Bud Ridley, Joe Gorman, Earl Baird, Vic Foley and Dixie LaHood to recall top bouts in Seattle between the midgets.

Basketball fans will be interested to hear that Alpine Dairy have been crowned champions of the Seattle Community League. In the deciding game on Sunday, Chuck Dugan's club trounced Joe Murray and his Ben Franklin boys 44 to 27. Roy Williamson was the big star of the Alpine victory, with seventeen points. The members of both these teams are well known to Victorians through their performances here this winter in exhibition games against the Dominos.

Entry of the Dominos in the northwest tournament at Seattle got a big play in The Seattle P.-I. on Sunday. The Victoria players came in for nice bouquets and officials in charge of the tournament are expecting big things from the local entry. The Dominos will make the trip to Seattle 100 per cent strong and, providing the boys hit their stride, should show up well against the classy American squads. Favorites to win the tournament are the Wheeler-Osgoods from Tacoma. It will be remembered the Dominos defeated the Tacomans here by a single point, 38 to 37.

Kenny Black, Vancouver's great amateur golfer, and ranked number one player in Canada, apparently intends to do a lot of traveling this summer. Speaking over the radio on Sunday evening, Black announced plans to take part in the United States amateur championship at Portland and also have another crack at the Canadian amateur at Ottawa. With the American national tournament being played so close this year it is possible Victoria may have a contender. For the benefit of the local amateurs the annual championship of the Pacific Northwest Golf Association will be held at Tacoma June 31 to 28. The dates were announced in Seattle over the week-end.

Tottenham Wins Cup Soccer Game

London, Feb. 23.—Tottenham Hot-spurs defeated Everton 4 to 3 yesterday at White Hart Lane in a replayed fifth round English football cup match. The Spurs now meet Preston North End in London in the next round to be played March 6. Last Saturday Tottenham and Everton played to a 1 to 1 draw. Millwall obtained a 3 to 1 verdict over Bristol City in a southern section, third division English football match played here yesterday.

Wagering on Derby Alone Is $183,584; Military Runs in Second-Place

Winner Owned By W. Du Pont

By ROBERT MYERS

Los Angeles, Feb. 23.—It looks like a big week for the Foxcatcher Farm's stable of race horses. Fairy Hill, the three-year-old pride and joy of William DuPont's, Foxcatcher string, drove in to win the $50,000 added Santa Anita Derby, and Rosemont, the stable's great five-year-old, after winning the $7,500 San Antonio Handicap last week-end, still looms as the horse to beat in the $100,000 Classic Saturday.

Yesterday's derby, a wild scramble with twenty-one horses going to the post in the richest race in the United States of its kind, saw Jockey Maurice Peters boost Fairy Hill home by a length over the Milky Way Farm's Military, racing the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:45.4.

Cornelius V. Whitney's Ptolemy ran third and the betting favorites were far out of the money—Mrs. W. H. Purst's Gerald fifth, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Tedious, never a contender, thirteenth.

MUCH BETTING
Forty thousand or more turned out for the programme, betting $1,177,674 on the eight races and $183,584 on the derby.
Proving predictions that the derby was a wide open race, Fairy Hill, a disappointment in previous starts at Santa Anita this season, turned in a brilliant performance.
Similarly regarded as outside hopes were Military and Ptolemy, and a field horse, Brown Jade, owned by William LeBaron, after setting a fast pace most of the distance, finished fourth. Tedious, Walter Taylor's Sir Oracle, Major Austin C. Taylor's Whickee and Whickee, all well thought of before the race, were never threatening.
Fairy Hill's victory, worth $45,425 to the Foxcatcher stable, paid $30.80, $20.50 and $13.20 across the board.
A. C. Compton's Clengendual, with the favored number one post position, was crowded out as the large field left the gate, while Tedious, Major Austin C. Taylor's Whickee and A. A. Baroni's No Dice, leading candidates forced to start outside the gate, were lost in the early scramble.

Migratory Birds To Be Discussed

A general meeting of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association will be held Tuesday, March 2, in the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock. The chief business on hand will be mapping out recommendations for the Migratory Birds Convention Act for the season of 1937-38. A full turnout of members is requested.

Feesey Cup Golf To Start Sunday

Eighteen-hole qualifying round of the annual Feesey Cup competition will be held at the Uplands Golf Club on Sunday. Sixteen low scores will qualify with the remainder of the field being divided into flights.
First and second rounds of match will be run off the following Sunday. George Preddy, last year's winner of the trophy, will not defend his honors.

Engen Ski Champion

Salt Lake City, Feb. 23.—Three boyhood chums from Norway shared the United States top-ranking ski-jump honors today. Alf Engen of Salt Lake City foremost among them.
Engen was adjudged the national champion not only for the record-breaking leap of 245 feet he made at the national amateur tournament near here yesterday, but for the perfection of form in that and a 177-foot jump.
He won by the narrowest sort of a margin, however, over Sigmund Ruud, Oslo, Norway. Ruud, with jumps of 181 and 232 feet, scored 224.6 points to 226.3 for the winner.
Close behind was Einar Fredbo, Anascondas, Mont., whose 167 and 216-foot jumps earned him 207.6 points.
Some ten years ago these three—Engen, Ruud and Fredbo—were youthful rivals in Norway's ski-fests.

Soccer Matches May Be Played

Whether or not soccer games will be played tomorrow rests on the decision of the city parks committee, which was today checking on the condition of local playing fields. On the chance that games will be allowed to go ahead, Wednesday Football League officials, have lined up three Penderay Cup games, all of which will start at 2:30 o'clock.
The games are:
Hudson's Bay vs. Navy, Athletic Park; Joe Ober referee.
Spencers vs. Victoria Longshoremen, Heywood Avenue; Edgar Borde referee.
Garrison vs. James Bay Wanderers, Work Point Barracks; Dave McMillan referee.

JACK-IN-THE-BOX ISLAND!

A volcanic island of the Tongan group in the southern waters of the Pacific, Falcon Island was first discovered as a breaking reef by the crew of the H.M.S. Falcon in 1865 and was entered in the ship's log under the description, Sealymph. Twelve years later the H.M.S. Sappho sailed past the location of the island as described in the Falcon's charts but the reef had disappeared from sight.
A year later mariners passing the spot saw a good-sized island. Four years later it was surveyed by a landing party from the H.M.S. Egeria. It was found to be one and a fourth miles long, one mile wide and 153 feet above sea level at its highest point.

By 1885, two-thirds of the island had disappeared, the sea having undermined the coast. By April, 1894, only a low streak of black rock marked the spot where the island had been. Rising a bit in 1900 and dropping again in 1905, the island completely vanished about 1913.
In 1926 the island rose again above the surface. Latest reports suggest that it has disappeared again.

Don Davis and Margery Hughes were crowned singles champions of the Willows Badminton Club in the finals played yesterday evening. Davis won his second successive crown by turning back Teddy Simmons in straight sets, 17-14, 15-8, while Miss Hughes also needed only two sets to dispose of Peggy MacDonald, 11-8, 11-6.
After making a game effort to take the first set from his opponent, Simmons faded badly in the second. In the opening set the runner-up had match-point five times, only to have Davis come from behind and eventually win.
Davis shared in his second crown when he partnered W. Dunbar to defeat J. P. and R. A. Phillips, 15-12, 11-15, 15-12, in the final of the men's doubles. The women's doubles saw Miss Hughes also take her second championship when she paired with Gladys McCall to win over Dorothy Morley and Peggy MacDonald, 15-7, 15-8.

The final of the mixed doubles resulted in a three-set victory for Mary Campbell and Pat Colclough over Peggy MacDonald and P. Phillips, 15-6, 4-15, 16-7.

U.S. CAGERS WIN HONORS

Los Angeles All-stars Beat Windsor to Capture World Amateur Honors

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 23.—With a last half spurt that netted sixteen points, Los Angeles All-Stars captured the world amateur basketball championship here last night, defeating Windsor Fords, 28 to 19, in the second game of their best-of-three series. The Californians, 1936 Olympic Games champions, won the first game Saturday, 40 to 31.
The battle, witnessed by a capacity crowd of 2,300, was not as fast as Saturday's game, because of the tenacious checking of Fords. The teams, who met in 1936 Olympic finals, were tied, 13 to 13, at halftime.
By its series win, Los Angeles took the coveted Jacob France Trophy, emblematic of world supremacy and last held by Tulsa Oilers in 1932, when they defeated Winnipeg Toltels.
Playing a strict man-to-man defence, Fords started in a dazzling burst of speed and took the lead on a long basket by Captain Jimmy Stewart after one minute of play. The advantage was short lived, however, for Frank Lubin, six-foot six-inch invader, evaded his "shadow," Willie Rogin, and dropped a close-in shot through the hoop.
The lead saw-sawed for the rest of the half, but the Americans forged ahead after eight minutes of the second session on two quick baskets by Carl Shy, clever guard, and were never threatened thereafter.

M.C.C. Plays Draw

Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 23.—The match between the touring Marylebone Cricket Club team and Victoria was drawn today with the state eleven ahead on the first innings by 105 runs. Victoria made 292, the visitors total being 187 and 132 for three wickets. Rain prevented play yesterday.
R. Gregory, young Victorian who made his international debut in the third test match earlier in the month, was top scorer with 88, compiled in a little more than three hours.
Joseph Hardstaff, Nottinghamshire pro, made 60 not out for the English eleven, hitting seven fours, but his fine effort was eclipsed by a slashing innings by Wally Hammond. The veteran Gloucester man flashed the form that netted big scores earlier in the tour. He made 56 runs in an hour, knocking out nine boundaries by rife off-drives.
Hedley Verity, famous Yorkshire bowler, failed as an opening batsman, being dismissed for one run in his first innings and nothing in the second. It is not unlikely that Gilbert Allen, English skipper, will decide to use R. E. S. Wyatt, Warwickshire captain, and Charles Barnett, Gloucestershire, as the opening pair in the fifth and deciding test, which opens here Friday.

Sportsmen Ask That Shawigan Lake Trout Season Open March 1

Their former pleas ignored, sportsmen's associations on Vancouver Island—with but a bare week to go before rivers, lakes and streams are again thrown open for the anglers—are pressing Ottawa for an answer to their requests that Shawigan Lake be included in their recommended opening date for the trout season on March 1.

This lake has always been excluded on the opening date, sportsmen not being able to fish those waters until some time after other spots are thrown open.
Roger Monteith, president of the Affiliated Fish and Game Associations of Vancouver Island on behalf of island fish and game clubs, Saturday forwarded a telegram to the Minister of Fisheries, Ottawa, again presenting their plea.
The text of the telegram follows:
"Sportsmen's associations on Vancouver Island have recommended months past that trout fishing open March 1, especially Shawigan Lake. To date with one week to go no action has been taken. Matter is causing considerable controversy through lack of interest shown. Please inform us on ruling, especially in regard to Shawigan Lake."
The wire also requests that the section of the fisheries regulations which calls for the discontinuation of steelhead fishing in the Cowichan River, between the Duncan Road bridge and the C.P.R. bridge at Riverside, be eliminated, and thus make steelhead fishing permissible all over the island throughout the year.

"Young Dempsey" Slain in Newark
Newark, N.J., Feb. 23.—John Licari, twenty-five, a former boxer known as "Young Dempsey," was slain yesterday evening as he ran to the aid of his brother, Anthony, who had been tumbled into a tavern washroom and shot, police said.
Rocco, a third brother, Kaye Anthony blood in a transfusion at a hospital, where physicians reported him near death.
No motive for the shooting was known. The slayer escaped.

Lou Ambers Wins Bout With Roth

"Young Dempsey" Slain in Newark

New York, Feb. 23.—Lou Ambers, beginning a tune-up campaign in preparation for an April defence of his lightweight title against Tony Canzoneri, decisively outpointed Al Roth, New York veteran, in a ten-round, non-title bout last night.
Ambers weighed 136½ and Roth one pound more.
ever, for Frank Lubin, six-foot six-inch invader, evaded his "shadow," Willie Rogin, and dropped a close-in shot through the hoop.
The lead saw-sawed for the rest of the half, but the Americans forged ahead after eight minutes of the second session on two quick baskets by Carl Shy, clever guard, and were never threatened thereafter.

GARDEN NOT BACKING UP

Mike Jacobs Fails to Interest Madison Square With Latest Compromise

New York, Feb. 23.—Possibility of a compromise in the heavy-weight industrial conflict, by which the winner of the Joe Louis-Jim Braddock title fight in Chicago would meet Max Schmeling, the German challenger, in New York in September, failed to interest Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, last night.
"I see no chance of a compromise, along that or any other line," Col. Kilpatrick said after hearing about a suggestion put forward by Mike Jacobs, of the rival 20th Century Sporting Club.
Jacobs, just back from seeing negotiations completed for Braddock and Louis to fight for the championship at Chicago, June 22, consulted legal advice before issuing a statement in which (1) he denied doing anything to impair the Garden's contract for a Schmeling-Braddock title bout here, (2) stated he had been advised nothing can "lawfully" stop the Louis-Braddock match and (3) offered what looked like an olive branch to the Garden.
JACOBS ALL RIGHT
"If on account of conditions beyond my control, the Braddock-Schmeling fight fails to materialize," said Jacobs' manifesto, "I am confident I can persuade the winner of the Braddock-Louis match to meet Schmeling within sixty days."
Jacobs, as a result of agreeing to match Louis with Braddock in Chicago appears to be very much "in the middle." He has an interest in Schmeling and agreed to the German's match with Braddock for a title fight June 3. He also collects 50 per cent of the fight earnings of Louis, whom he has under contract until 1940. In other words, Mike gets a "cut," no matter what happens.

Dynamiters Register Fifth Straight Victory in World Amateur Hockey Tournament at London at Expense of Germany 5 to 0; England Beats Poland

London, Feb. 23.—A merry battle of excellent goal-tending is going on here as Canada and England near their decisive game for the world amateur hockey championship.
Jimmy Foster, goalie of Moncton Hawks when they won the Allan Cup two years in succession, and goalie for England in their upset win in last year's winter Olympic Games, has scored five shutouts in five games of the current tournament.
Kenny Campbell, Kimberley Dynamiters, 1936 Allan Cup winners, has been scored on twice in five games, both by Poland in the first round.
The two added to their shutout records last night as Kimberley, representing Canada, defeated Germany 5 to 0 and England trounced Poland 11 to 0. In other games Czechoslovakia won from France 8 to 1 and Switzerland defeated Hungary 4 to 2.
These results made it certain that Canada and England will enter the final pool tomorrow night when four teams will continue in the fight. Four will be dropped after tonight's games. France and Hungary are certain of elimination while the two vacant places will be settled tonight when Germany meets Czechoslovakia and Poland plays Switzerland. Favored to continue were Germany and Poland.

Gordon Drillon Has Fine Record

Rookie of Toronto Hockey Club Has Not Been Penalized This Season; Scoring Statistics Released; Games Tonight

When they're deciding on a right-hander for the Lady Byng sportsmanship trophy at the close of the National Hockey League season, Gordon Drillon will not be overlooked unless he turns bad man overnight. The Toronto Maple Leafs' right winger, well up with the league's leading scorers, has not been penalized this season.

Also a contender for outstanding rookie honors, the twenty-two-year-old Moncton, N.B., boy appears to be in a class by himself. A fast skater, aggressive player, the clean-cut youngster has 28 scoring points to his credit, made up of 14 goals and 14 assists.

Drillon has been so impressive that he has earned a regular right wing berth on Leafs' first string forward line with Syl Apps and Harvey Jackson. He'll be at this regular post as Leafs tackle Rangers in New York tonight despite the fact Charlie Conacher will return to the team's lineup.

Conacher was slated to do right-wing chores with the No. 1 line this season but a pre-season wrist injury has kept "Chuck" out of all but a few games. He was slated to get into action in Montreal next Thursday when Leafs play Canadiens but Smythe changed his mind and instructed the big bomber to leave Toronto last night.

Leafs will be out for a victory, for at Boston, their rivals for third place in the Canadian section, New York Americans, will be attempting to spill the Bruins. Leafs' hopes of jolting the blueshirts from a play-off spot look pretty slim, but the Toronto strategy board intends to take no chances.

SCORING FIGURES
If Apps goes on this way, you'll probably find a lot of National Hockey League takers up pole vaulting. Because, as a glance at the Toronto rookie's point standing would indicate, it hasn't done Sylvanus any harm at all around those nets.

Right now, four months out of the amateur ranks, the former Olympic vaulter is leading the N.H.L.'s Canadian section in scoring. Last night official league statistics gave him thirty-seven, his four points of last week having put him two up on Sweeney Schriner of the New York Americans.

In the whole league, the young Maple Leafs' thirteen goals and twenty-four assists have him in a second-place tie with Marty Barry, Detroit, for second spot behind Larry Aurie, another Detroit, who has twenty-two goals and eighteen assists.

Deader, Apps is tied with Barry for assist leadership.

First place in the goal-getting division is still held by Aurie, three up on Butch Keeling, Rangers, and five up on Harvey Jackson, Leafs; Cecil Dillon, New York Rangers, and Johnny Gagnon, Montreal Canadiens.

The Maple Leafs took over another honor during the week. A match penalty boosted Red Horner's penalty total to 102 minutes, and he displaced Allan Shields, Boston Bruins, who now trails by seventeen minutes.

ICE PLAYERS SUFFER FINES

Stiff Penalties as Vancouver Defeats Spokane in Rough Battle

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 23.—Vancouver's rugged Lions were within one point of the league-leading Portland Buckaroos in the Pacific Coast Hockey League standings today, as a result of a hard-fought 4 to 2 victory over the third-place Spokane Clippers.

Referee Fredrickson and Sander meted out seventeen penalties, as 4,000 fans watched the roughest game of the season.

The total misbehavior list counted one $25 fine to Clipper goalie Sam Timmins, one $10 fine to defenseman Loren Mercer of the Lions, fifteen minor penalties and two majors. Timmins received his salary jolt for jumping Referee Fredrickson, when the latter attempted to stop a fight between Mory Rinstad and Hal Pickett of the Clippers. Mercer's sawbuck fine was handed out for snapping a back-hander at Referee Sander after the official had waved the rearguard to the bench, for dumping Pickett.

SPOKANE LED TWICE
Spokane took the lead in the first period, only to have Vancouver even the count before the season ended. Clippers forged ahead again in the second, but Lions equalized in the same canto, then drove in two third-stanza markers for victory.

SUMMARY
First period—1. Spokane, Pickett, 1:07; 2. Vancouver, Palm (Arnott), 7:45. Penalties: Pickett (3), Carre (2), Arnott, Holmes, O'Neill.
Second period—3. Spokane, Holmes, 4:39; 4. Vancouver, Carre, 10:43. Penalties: McCartney, Kenny, Pickett (5 minutes); Rinstad (5 minutes); Timmins ($25 fine); Carre.

BETTER TERMS FROM BONDHOLDERS URGED IN COUNCIL CHAMBER

weeks and further negotiations with the bondholders had apparently not been undertaken, he added, noting the city would have to start soon on its budget preparation. The alderman felt the council should negotiate as soon as possible unless the majority of the council was prepared to accept the Fortin plan as it was. The trip of Mayor McGavin to Ottawa for the mayor's conference should lend emphasis to the plea of the city for relief, he said.

Mr. Fortin had admitted, Alderman Wills said, that the bondholders did not want a receivership in the city. The longer action was postponed on the matter, the shorter time the city had to negotiate.

"I'm looking for a better deal for the city," he stated, before saying the finance committee appeared to be more worried over the question of Mr. Henley's fee than discussion of the Fortin plan.

ADAM'S STAND

Strenuous opposition to the plan was voiced by Alderman Adam. As far as Mr. Henley was concerned, he believed the city owed the fiscal agent $35,000 or nothing.

He drew attention to the load the taxpayers here had carried during recent years while the bondholders were receiving their full interest payments and, under the plan, appeared they seemed to have ignored the distress of Victoria's taxpayers and offered nothing that was not in their own interests.

Alderman Adam drew a depressing word picture of reverted properties, homes sold for tax sale, increased burdens shouldered by municipalities and reduced government grants.

The bondholders suggested the city follow the course of further increasing the burden for posterity without helping city employees or taxpayers.

Mr. Fortin presented his plan in such a light there appeared no alternative, Alderman Adam said.

He believed strong representations should be made to the provincial government to investigate the city's finances with a view to furnishing greater relief. The provincial government, he added, was responsible for reduced grants to the municipalities and the increase in certain burdens placed upon them.

In conclusion he declared the bondholders should make some sacrifice to assist the city.

NOT ASLEEP
Alderman J. D. Hunter, finance committee chairman, stated he had no objection to the motion before the council. The committee had no intention of rushing the Fortin plan. He took exception, however, to the suggestion contained in the motion that the finance committee had been asleep.

"What are you going to do if you don't accept the plan?" he asked, "there were the alternatives of defaulting or increasing the tax rate from five to eighteen mills, depending on the provision the city made for debt charges."

The issue had not been raised in open council because he was convinced certain aldermen would not vote on the Fortin plan until they had been satisfied as to the amount of money that was to be paid C. S. Henley in fees.

He had given up all hope of securing assistance from the provincial government in time to allow the city to carry on, Alderman Hunter said.

Alderman W. T. Straith stated he was in accord with the idea of the Wills-Adam motion, but thought the matter should be sent to the finance committee with instructions to continue negotiations. The movers of the motion, he said, had offered no

West equipment and men into headquarters. If the equipment was left where it was, it would be constantly running between Victoria West and headquarters, filling in whenever a call came.

He had arranged his new schedule to meet the Hours of Work Act and give adequate protection to all major buildings in the city, the chief said. The equipment's removal would be no detriment to Victoria West, which was served largely from Burnside, he added.

TO RETAIN MEN
Mayor McGavin stated there would be no laying off of men through the change.

Last year, the chief replied to question, Victoria West hall answered but thirty calls.

Alderman Hunter opposed the change on the grounds Victoria West was a large area which required protection.

Alderman S. H. Okell objected to the way the committee had introduced the move without informing the council. He moved the issue be tabled for one week.

"You used to urge tabling when things were rushed," he said, addressing the mayor. "I'm following your example."

Alderman Morgan stated the chief was anxious to secure speedy action in order to facilitate departmental reorganization on the new hours of work basis, scheduled to go in force at the end of this month.

The council had requested the fire wardens to put through the new hours of work regulations and that was the manner in which they had attempted to do it, Alderman Wills said. If the finance committee could provide the $30,000 extra required to finance the department on its former basis by increasing staffs, he would be quite satisfied, he said.

"This does not make the slightest bit of difference to salaries," Alderman Wills said.

Alderman Straith was prepared to support the report on the chief's recommendation but objected to the manner in which Alderman Hunter had been refused his proper answer when he raised the question over the hall. It looked too much like a hole-in-the-corner business, he said.

Why was it better to close Victoria West than Burnside? Alderman Hunter asked.

Because it took twice as long for Victoria West to get to centre of the city as it did the Burnside department chief Burnside stated.

Alderman Okell and Worthington both objected to the method in which the motion had been introduced.

The amendment, to table the question for a week, was rejected, with Alderman Okell, Williams and Hunter supporting it. On the motion, authorizing elimination of the hall, the same three voted in the negative.

HAS TO BE CLOSED
"We might as well be frank about it," Alderman Archie Wills, a member of the fire wardens, stated. "The hall has to be closed and Oak Bay is agreeable to the move."

Alderman Wills explained that in the new agreement with Oak Bay the fire wardens had agreed to close no more halls for six months.

Alderman S. H. Okell asked if the fire wardens had considered the move in committee.

"Not definitely," Alderman Wills replied, stating he and Alderman Morgan had studied the question with the chief of the department after last week's council meeting.

Called by Alderman Morgan, Chief Alex. Munroe explained the advantage of the change. Since the city had decided to close Duchess Street hall it had concentrated its equipment in the west and northwest of the city, leaving the department unbalanced, he said. In order to restore the balance he favored bringing Victoria alternatives other than an appeal to the provincial government. If that body refused its grants and re-assumed the social service burden the city would still be $500,000 shy of its budgetary requirements for the year, he said.

"I don't like the scheme, but what alternative is there?" Alderman Hunter asked.

Alderman S. H. Okell expressed accordance with Alderman Adam on the causes for the city's present difficulties, but asked what course would be followed. To bring properly back it was necessary to reduce the city's tax rate. He thought the first steps towards recovery should be to accept the Fortin plan, probably in an amended form, cut down the city's overhead, insist on the federal government taking over relief costs and stir up public opinion to a point where it would force the provincial government to restore municipal grants.

As far as Mr. Henley was concerned, he was going to get a square deal. The alderman did not see how the council could disassociate Mr. Henley from the Fortin scheme whether or not it agreed on the payment of a fee to the fiscal agent. Alderman Okell asked the reason for the proposed post-council camera session and was informed by the mayor that legal technicalities made a secret meeting necessary.

Alderman Ed. Williams stood out strongly for the settlement of the Henley fee issue before action was taken on the Fortin plan. He supported the move to table the Wills motion until the council had attended to the fiscal agent.

Alderman John A. Worthington said he was not prepared to act on the plan until the Henley matter was settled.

Mayor McGavin stated that feature could be settled at a finance committee meeting to which all aldermen were invited.

DEWAR DISAPPOINTED

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar expressed his disappointment in the Fortin scheme, but stated he thought it doubtful if the city could get a better deal. It made him ill, he said, to see the property reversions occurring in the city. He thought the discussion of the plan might have been made public at an earlier date so that negotiations might have been expedited.

He saw just two redeeming features in the Fortin scheme. It would make immediate financing possible and the callable feature of the bonds might help the city in future, he said.

Alderman Wills asked if the finance committee had requested a better deal or had proposed any alternative.

The mayor replied the committee had thought of going to the provincial government.

Alderman Wills suggested that if the bondholders would not accept a compromise that a committee of three be appointed to arbitrate on the matter. The provincial government was the parent of the municipalities. If the city defaulted the government would appoint a receiver. Then why should not the government lend a hand in preventing a default? he asked.

Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan stated that under his interpretation of the Fortin plan the city would save immediately between $500,000 and $600,000 a year. Regarding a fee to Mr. Henley, he believed the fiscal agent should get $30,000 or nothing. The amount was relatively unimportant in comparison with the major issue, he believed.

Alderman Straith asked permission to lay certain suggestions before the finance committee on the refunding question and was assured he would be given an opportunity to do so.

The amendment to the Wills-Adam motion was put and carried and the issue went back to the finance committee.

PROTESTED SILENCE

Early in the meeting, Alderman Okell had registered a protest over the absence of public discussion of the Fortin plan.

"I urged early consideration of the estimates. This is holding us up. I think it is time we got some action," he said.

Alderman Hunter replied the finance committee had discussed with Mr. Henley his fee during the afternoon and was prepared to inform the council of the details considered at a camera session.

"Why worry. There's lots of time. The plan cannot be ratified until the fall anyway," Alderman Worthington said. He urged consideration of estimates.

"That's what I'm thinking of," Alderman Okell replied.

"You're chairman of a committee, how are your estimates getting along?" Mayor McGavin asked.

"The Old Men's Home estimates are already in," Alderman Okell replied. Alderman Hunter urged all chairmen to bring in the estimates as soon as possible.

Y.M.C.A. Will Make Appeal for Funds

Association to Begin Campaign March 8; Objective This Year Is $9,600 Composed of $5,600 Current and $3,500 Accrued Liabilities Plus $500 For Gliz Lake Camp

The Y.M.C.A. board of directors will submit their annual appeal for funds to the public of Victoria and district in a one-week campaign beginning March 8 and continuing until March 15. The objective this year has been set for $9,600, composed of $5,600 current and $3,500 accrued liabilities, and $500 for the new Gliz Lake summer camp.

Policies and programme are controlled by eighteen representative citizens who have reduced the budget drastically during the depression years from $32,500 to $23,301 this year. The annual appeal during the last five years has not varied by more than two or three hundred dollars. During the years a very high standard of programme has been maintained and almost seventy-five per cent of the income has been paid over the counter by privilege users.

The balance of the $5,600 represents services rendered to the community in general, and particularly to the unemployed and underprivileged. The Y.M.C.A. is a member of the Victoria Council of Social Agencies and has agreed to co-operate in a community chest when organized.

DRIVE EXECUTIVE

Chairman of the campaign executive this year is J. O. Cameron. The remainder of the executive includes: F. E. Winslow, special committee; F. G. Rowbottom, W. W. Martin, H. B. Dawson, Alderman Archie Willis, E. Harrison, Rev. G. A. Reynolds, H. E. Witter, W. P. Pinfold, W. T. Straith, J. R. Nicholson, R. W. Mayhew and S. H. Hay.

Campaign patrons are Mayor A. McGavin, R. T. Elliott, A. T. Goward, H. B. Ker, G. McGregor, E. Tomlin and E. W. Whittington.

The following comprise the Y.M.C.A. board of directors: H. B. Witter, president; W. T. Straith, vice-president; J. A. Hastings, recording secretary; J. O. Cameron, treasurer; R. W. Mayhew, Dr. T. W. A. Gray, W. A. Reynolds, W. W. Martin, Rev. G. A. James, Dr. A. Peebles, E. G. Rowbottom, J. A. Bennett, E. Harrison, J. V. Johnson, J. R. Nicholson, W. P. Pinfold, Ald. Archie Willis and S. J. D. Clark.

SUMMER CAMP

For over thirty years the Victoria Y.M.C.A. has conducted a summer camp as the main feature of its summer activities for boys and during the last few years the programme has been limited and restricted by the lack of permanence in location and equipment. After many years of search, Gliz Lake was purchased. The lake, which covers an area of fifteen acres is at a 1,000-foot elevation in the Sooke Hills. The property consists of 320 acres of wooded and hilly land and makes an excellent setting for the numerous activities conducted. While it is isolated, it is within easy reach of the main road and bus line.

While the summer camp is a feature of the Y.M.C.A. summer activities, the winter programme offers a fine schedule of physical education.

MARKET NOTES

For the first time in history, a straight carload of grapefruit from Texas arrived here this morning. California and Arizona grapefruit crops have been damaged generally by frost, and wholesalers find that they can buy Texas grapefruit and pay twice as much as a freight change more cheaply than they can buy undamaged California stock. They state also that the Texas grapefruit is of better quality than the California or Arizona fruit.

An advance of $2 a ton in potato prices became effective yesterday. Butter prices are down a cent a pound at 28 cents a pound for first-grade prints, and 27 cents a pound for solid butter.

A shipment of radishes was received from Texas yesterday.

May Announce Fee Tomorrow

C. S. Henley to Meet Finance Committee on Amount to Be Paid Him

C. S. Henley, city fiscal agent, who has already given the city's finance committee a verbal accounting of his services, will meet the committee again tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in an effort to reach some definite decision on the fee to be recommended to the council on Friday.

Mayor Andrew McGavin stated today, Mr. Henley, it is understood, has no claim on the city until a refunding scheme is brought into force with the authority of the provincial government.

Under his contract with the city Mr. Henley would secure a fee of $30,000 plus expense money up to a set amount, on a refunding plan approved by the government.

It was understood he had suggested a figure considerably below that mark in his negotiations with the finance committee recently.

First outside entry in the ninth annual Empress Winter Golf Tournament to reach the city is J. C. Beveridge of Medicine Hat, Alta.

SCHOOL ISSUE TO COMMITTEE

Costs Question Goes Back to Finance Committee

Consideration of school costs and proposed action for the institution of a board of inquiry, was referred back to the finance committee by the City Council last night. All communications regarding the matter were forwarded to the committee for further study.

Included in the letters was one from D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, and H. S. Pringle, city solicitor.

The officials wrote they had examined the school board's estimates as submitted by the board and were of the opinion they were in order as ordinary expenses with the exception of one item of $1,500 appearing in the summary expenditure sheet for special electric lighting installations and replacements in Sir James Douglas School. That item had subsequently been withdrawn, the officials stated.

The letter further drew the council's attention to its rights under the Public Schools Act, whereby it may refer the estimates back to the board of revision. Should that revision be unsatisfactory to the council, provision is made in the act for action by a board of arbitration to rule on the issue.

A. C. STICKLEY WINS TROPHY

Dr. Whosit and Mr. Crabb Conduct Inquisition at Kiwanis Luncheon

A. C. Stickley is the best informed director of the Kiwanis Club—at least that was the outcome of an inquisition conducted at the club's luncheon today by Professor Whosit and Mr. Crabb, imitators of Professor Quiz and Mr. Trout of radio fame.

As a symbol of his victory, under a barrage of questions, Mr. Stickley was awarded a tiny cup made out of a cork, a collar button, a thumb nail and two safety pins. The presentation was made by Brooke Stephenson.

Scores chalked up by the vice-president and six directors of the club in answering three series of questions, with 300 for highest possible marks, were as follows: A. C. Stickley 200, Arthur Dowell, vice-president, 180; W. Murray Martindale 175, Harold M. Duggan 166, Dr. J. Ewart Gee 140, Henry E. Douglas 75 and Ed Mallick 0.

Ralph Matthews, chairman of the club's programme committee, took the role of Prof. Whosit, imitating Prof. Quiz perfectly, even down to the occasional "No coaching, please." Joseph Jase was Mr. Crabb, and broke into the professor's discourses successfully at regular intervals.

The questions were in three series, the first dealing with Kiwanis, the second with Victoria and Vancouver Island, and the third with British Columbia and Canada.

Songs were contributed to the programme by a quartette made up of F. M. McGregor, Austin Curtis, Harry E. Douglas and Gordon Denholm.

Dr. Hubert Dumont was introduced as a new member by Darrell W. Spence. Walter M. Walker, president of the club, was in the chair.

Cabinet Heads To Return Soon

Premier Pattullo and two of his cabinet ministers, Hon. John Hart and Attorney-General Sloan, who are in Ottawa, will start for the coast within the next week or ten days. It is expected at the Legislative Buildings, although definite advice has not been received.

Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, probably will go east shortly to discuss plans for Dominion-provincial highway work during the coming year.

COAST PARK RESERVE KEPT

No Further Alienation of Timber in Island's West Coast Area

While the Dominion Government has not consented yet to take over the proposed West Coast Park on Vancouver Island as a national park, the province is keeping the area under reserve and is not reinstating any timber licenses that have lapsed there, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said today.

Negotiations between the province and Dominion were carried on last year with a view to turning some of the provincial park over to Dominion control. The federal parks men expressed an interest in a west coast area with a view of the Pacific Ocean but did not make a definite proposal.

Mr. Gray said he believed Ottawa would not want to take any more British Columbia park areas for two or three years yet. It is now concentrating on the maritime provinces where it has no national parks.

However, he said, in the hope that it may be one day included in the national parks system the province is keeping the west coast site under reserve. It is the logical place for an ocean park.

HEALTH STAFF IS CUT DOWN

Forty of Commission Employees Get Notices Due to Delay

Forty members of the staff at the headquarters of the B.C. Health Insurance Commission have been given their notices, in consequence of the delay in inauguration of the insurance plan, it was learned today.

Some employees of this commission will finish work on February 28, others will be given a longer notice.

Upward of seventy people have been working in the health insurance headquarters for the last two months. Those who are not let out now will continue on the organization details of the scheme.

Allan Peebles, chairman of the commission, said he could not state anything further of the commission's plans.

HIGHWAY IS PEACE HOPE

Outlet to B.C. Through Monkmann Pass Boosted, Says Lumberman

Building of the proposed highway through the Monkmann Pass to link up with the Cariboo Highway in British Columbia is the hope of the people of the Peace River seeking an outlet to the coast from the northern wheat belt, according to A. R. McMillan, general manager of the Frontier Lumber Company Ltd. of Grand Prairie, Alberta, a guest at the Empress Hotel today.

Direct rail connection with the coast may eventually come. The people of the Peace River are now boosting for the Monkmann highway, Mr. McMillan indicated.

Monkmann Pass in the Rockies is about 150 miles north of the Yellowhead Pass, the route followed by the Canadian National Railways.

Grand Prairie is situated in northern Alberta, almost on the border of the B.C. Block of the Peace River country, approximately 500 miles north by west of Edmonton, and reached by the Northern Alberta Railways.

A very favorable grain yield was experienced in the Peace River last year, the crop running between 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 bushels of wheat, one of the greatest crops experienced in that sector, said Mr. McMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. McMillan plan to remain in Victoria for a couple of weeks and may enter the Empress winter golf tournament next week.

BRITISH DEFENCE BILL ADVANCED

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 23.—The government's defence loan bill, authorizing borrowing up to $400,000,000 ($200,000,000) as part of the plan to spend £1,500,000,000 ($7,500,000,000) on defensive rearmament in the next five years, received first reading in the House of Commons yesterday evening.

The rearmament plan was debated at length last week when a financial resolution, preparatory to the bill proper, was approved by the House in committee stage.

Y.M.C.A. Camera Club Plans Dance

Final arrangements for the Y.M.C.A. Camera Club's annual dance, to be held on Friday, were completed by the committee in charge at a special meeting yesterday evening. A five-piece orchestra will supply the music.

The committee said the dance would take place in the K. of C. Hall and not in the hall first discussed. The club will have a large number of photographs, including its winning entries in the Hobby Fair, displayed in the hall. During the refreshment recess Miss Maxine High, popular radio entertainer, will sing.

As formerly, the invitations have been printed photographically, the design including a picture, and, although the cost was almost prohibitive, met with much favorable comment last year. The weekly meeting of the club, usually held on Friday, has been canceled this week because of the dance.

CONSCRIPTION ACT DIED IN 1919

That is Answer to Question in Commons on 1917 Measure

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The Military Service Act, 1917, is not in force, having expired with demobilization of the Canadian Expeditionary Force following the Great War. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, told the House of Commons yesterday, answering a question from C. E. Ferland, Liberal, Joliette-L'Assomption-Montcalm, Que.

The minister said the question was asked almost every year and he could see no reason for it as the answer was clear. The expiry of the act under which conscription was imposed was noted in the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1927.

Mr. Ferland also asked what statements in reply to the question had been made in the House of Commons by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden. Mr. Lapointe said Sir Wilfrid had died before the first session after the war and so could not have made any statement. He did not know whether Sir Robert Borden had made any statement on the matter.

Members of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite are requested to attend the funeral of our late Brother William Thomas Phillips, 37, to be held under the auspices of United Service Lodge No. 24 G.R.C. in the Shrine Temple, 1037 View Street, Victoria, B.C., on Wednesday, February 24, at 1:15 p.m.

WALTER M. WALKER, 18, Registrar.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I read with sympathy the letter in your column recently from a girl who had married and moved to a strange city to live and who was very lonely. I have been through the same experience and perhaps what I learned about making acquaintances and friends may help her and others with this problem. This is what I found:

First in importance is making contacts; and that one must do oneself. The church is perhaps the door that is easiest to approach and surest of opening, but just going to church is not enough. One must identify oneself with the church and its activities. I went to the minister of the church I selected and told him that I was a stranger. He put me in touch with groups within the church, where I could find an opportunity to meet people. I joined the Sunday school, Ladies' Aid, etc. In that way I made many acquaintances and a few friends.

Then there are many school groups open to any one in the community. I joined a gym class sponsored by the Mothers' Club of a school and made a few friends there. This group also had various benefits which I attended, such as teas, book reviews, etc.

There are also "causes" that are always glad to have willing workers. I was interested in the peace movement, so I called the woman in charge of this work and was welcomed with open arms. Likewise the local philanthropic groups are eager for help. Such work as sewing for the Red Cross, the hospitals, etc., offer unusual opportunities for meeting "worth-while" women. Then there are "Y" activities, where groups meet and where you are brought in contact with agreeable and intelligent women.

These are a few of many examples where a woman can make an entry without the aid of others. It cannot be emphasized too strongly, however, that the group must be attended regularly, because it is only after people have a chance to get acquainted with you that they will make a move toward a personal friendship. Don't be aggressive or seek to put yourself forward, but if you are asked to serve on a committee always accept, because this brings you to the notice of others.

In a group be friendly and interested in those around you, but don't run after strangers. It scares people off. Don't complain of your loneliness. Don't abuse the city you are living in and tell why you don't like it and how superior your home town is. If possible, dress smartly, because a woman is largely judged by her clothes. If you can't afford expensive gowns, be well groomed. Be as pleasant as possible at all times and establish the reputation of being a willing and competent helper. Don't ask women to come to see you until they suggest it. Everybody is afraid of a pusher.

Don't feel that you are ignored because people make no overtures of friendship as soon as they meet you. The average woman has a fully occupied social life and, unless the newcomer can make an unusually good impression, they are slow to take her up.

In conclusion, my advice to this stranger in a strange city is to go everywhere she can. Meet as many people as possible. She will make many acquaintances and a few friends.

Answer—I print this letter in full because it contains so many helpful suggestions to the woman who finds herself devastated by the loneliness of a great city in which she knows not a single soul, who is surrounded by people with not one to whom she dares to speak.

It is a terrible experience for those who have lived in a small community where they were tops, where they knew everybody and were the centre of everything that went on. It is also an experience that is fraught with peril, for the police tell us that the greatest danger of a great city is loneliness, especially for girls. They say that a large proportion of the country and small-town girls who go wrong when they go to the city to seek their fortunes do so through sheer loneliness. In their eagerness for society and friendliness they fall easy victims to those who prey upon those who are suffering from the human need of company. So the strange girl in a strange city does well to follow this wise woman's advice and make her contacts in the groups she suggests.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am happily married and have a nice home, but am still interested in other men, like to flirt a little and know that I still attract men. I imagine myself in love with these other men, but, of course, that is as far as it goes. I can see no wrong in this. In fact, I think it helps keep one alive and young. Incidentally, I am still in love with my husband and wouldn't want anything to happen to our marriage.

Answer—"Incidentally" is the proper word to apply to your affection for your husband. You love him on the side, as it were, when you are not having an affair with some other man. He doesn't fill your life nor your heart. He is just an incident—a happy accident that provides you with a good home and the pretty clothes with which you doli yourself up to make your conquests.

But, believe me, lady, you are playing with fire when you have your little extra-marital adventures and, sooner or later, you will get your fingers burned. There is no such thing as an innocent flirtation for a married woman, and the woman whose vanity makes her try out her fascinations on men has to pay a pretty price for her folly. For men always put the most sinister interpretation upon a wife's disloyalty to her husband and the husband fails to see that her coquettish mean nothing and are just done in a spirit of pure adventure.

You say you do not wish to lose your husband and your home. If you don't, you had better cut out the flirtations. Otherwise, you are headed for the divorce court.

When Flood Waters Rise

When first reports came of rising floods in the headwaters of the Ohio River last month, few persons, if any, thought there would be great damage. Winter in western Pennsylvania and in Ohio usually provides a great deal of snow but not much rain. A flood of great size is not expected in January.

Refugees outside Chinese police station during flood.

Little streams flowing into big rivers. The rivers turned into torrents, with power to destroy. The loss of life was not nearly so great as in some of the world's past floods. If the same volume of water swept through China, it probably would have drowned many thousands of human beings.

As we look back over history, we find that floods have taken a heavy toll in many lands. England, France, Spain, Holland, Denmark, Poland, Germany, Peru, Mexico, Java, Sumatra, Japan, China and India are among the nations which have had big floods during the past 500 years. Of all nations in Europe, Holland has suffered most. In Holland, the intruding sea has been the great danger. With much of their country lower than sea level, the Dutch have had to trust dikes to hold the water back, but sometimes the dikes have failed. Half a century before Columbus crossed the Atlantic, 100,000 persons in the Netherlands died in a flood. Another disaster, with about equal loss of life, took place there in the year 1521. During the past two centuries, the Dutch have been more careful and have not had any flood with nearly such great loss of life. The worst floods during modern times have happened in China and India. In 1876 a mighty sea-wave swept over cities and villages along the coast of Bengal, a region of north-eastern India, and drowned about 200,000 people. China's floods have come mainly from overflowing rivers. The Yellow River and the Yangtze have taken the lives of millions during the past half century.

Design For Nationalistic
Future Supported By Large Organizations

Associated Press
Warsaw, Feb. 23.—Col. Adam Koc, designer for a sharply nationalistic future for Poland—a pattern inspired by her strong man, Marshal Edward Rydz-Smigly—was drawing support today from more than 2,000,000 Polish citizens.

The Union of Former Army Men was the first organization to pledge support, followed by messages to Premier Felicjan Slawski from the Polish Boy Scout organization and from several trade unions.

The sweeping plan was outlined in a thirty-minute broadcast Sunday by Col. Koc, former president of the Bank of Poland. Among the points he outlined were:

Communism—"We reject Communism, which is wholly alien to our national spirit."

Defence—"The entire nation must concentrate on national defence."

Anti-Semitism—"We cannot permit anti-Semitic acts of violence and brutality, but one must understand the struggle of the Polish people for economic independence."

No "Trick Props" In Drama Tests

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 23.—Actors anxious to reach the finals of the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa should avoid "trick" lighting and other artificial "props," according to George de Warfar, English adjudicator now in Toronto.

The Belgian-born forty-eight-year-old Englishman declared he "would make mincemeat" of any attempt to put over a play by any means other than good acting. The beauty of a play depends on the simplicity and naturalness of the presentation, he said.

Man Shot Down On New York Street

Associated Press
New York, Feb. 23.—Gasto Alvarado, a shabbily dressed man about forty years old, with three cents in his pocket, was killed by a rain of gunfire early yesterday in front of a Harlem candy store.

It was Harlem's third slaying in a week and its fourth in a month. Police said the man had been shot five times.

Deafness May Be Due To Catarrh.

People should be taught to recognize the symptoms of catarrh, because here is one ailment which can do a lot of damage if treatment is neglected. Loss of taste and smell and a general, lazy, let-down feeling often result from neglect of this trouble. The hearing becomes impaired to such an extent that partial deafness may result. Too, catarrh causes head noises, a roaring, hissing in the ears; the ears have a full, stuffy feeling in the morning when you awake. All these symptoms should have immediate care.

For this purpose, secure your own drugstore a bottle of Parmit Concentrate (double strength) which is an old reliable English formula. One ounce of this concentrate will make 8 ounces of medicine by adding a little sugar and water.

Parmit Concentrate is a handy home treatment for those symptoms which lead to catarrh of the ears and throat and should be used by everyone who is troubled this way. Any druggist can supply Parmit Concentrate, and you can easily add water and sugar to make a big bottle of the medicine. It is an excellent preparation and is widely used by our English cousins. If you feel the annoying symptoms of catarrh, don't run the risk of letting it become so deep seated that you may lose your hearing.

U.S. ADMIRAL PASSES AWAY

Henry T. Mayo Was Commander-in-chief of U.S. Navy During World War

Associated Press
Portsmouth, N.H., Feb. 23.—Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo, eighty, United States naval commander-in-chief during the World War, died today from a heart attack at the home of his son, Capt. G. Mayo. He retired in 1920.

Rear Admiral Henry Thomas Mayo, ordered a salute to the flag at Tampico, Mexico, in 1914, an act which led to the occupation of Vera Cruz by the United States. He was commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet during the World War. The two events were the most outstanding in his career depends largely upon the two events.

Coming from the same state as Admiral Dewey, he was always known as a sea dog and a rigid upholder of the highest standards of the navy.

The Tampico incident occurred on April 9, 1914, after a navy paymaster and the crew of a whaleboat from the dispatch boat Dolphin had been arrested by Mexican wharf dogs. As commander of the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet in those waters, Admiral Mayo demanded an apology from the Mexican commander at that port for the act and the firing of a national salute to twenty-one guns to the United States flag.

The dictator Huerta was then in the saddle in Mexico, and Admiral Mayo did not get his amendments, but the situation precipitated resulted in immediate orders from Washington in support of his position. Within a few days marines and bluejackets had taken Vera Cruz. Subsequently the American forces were withdrawn, but only after Huerta had taken flight.

During World War
Admiral Mayo was appointed commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet in 1916 and held that command throughout the period of American participation in the World War, the command including all vessels in the Atlantic and European waters. During that period he was for the most part on his flagship in American waters but he made a trip of inspection of American ships in European waters in 1918. In 1917 he represented the United States at the naval conference of allied countries in London.

Writing him after his retirement for age in 1920, Secretary Daniels said:

"It is a matter of congratulation that while under your command the United States fleet reached its highest efficiency and made its largest contribution in the World War. When we entered the war, largely due to your direction, the fleet was in its highest state of readiness. Your service abroad was not only recognized by your countrymen but by naval leaders of the allied nations, and contributed much toward hastening the adoption of measures which insured the allied offensives."

After retirement, Admiral Mayo made his home at Burlington, Vt., where he was born December 4, 1856. He was appointed to the naval academy from that state, being graduated in 1876. During the Spanish-American war he served as a lieutenant on the Bennington and the Independence. Much of his service was at sea, but at one time he was commander of the Mare Island Navy Yard. He married Miss Carrie M. Wing of Burlington in 1881.

Spanish Freighter Comes to Victoria—Two Big Passenger
Liners Here Saturday—Two Ships Coming From Europe—New Skipper
on Japanese Passenger Liners—Ss. Estevan Gets Boiler Overhaul

For the first time in many years, a Spanish ship has come to the port of Victoria. The Arrol-Mendi tied up at Ogden Point early this morning to load 300,000 feet of lumber for Europe. King Brothers expect to clear her for sea tomorrow afternoon. She has been in British Columbia waters for some weeks and is fully laden with freight.

Although owned in Bilbao, Spain, the Arrol-Mendi was built in 1921 by the Furness Shipbuilding Company at Halverton, Hill-on-Tees, England. She is registered at 5,914 tons, with a length of 400 feet, a beam of fifty-three feet and a depth of thirty-two feet.

After a rough passage around Vancouver Island, the Dominion Government's lighthouse tender Estevan is receiving boiler overhaul at her dock in the Inner Harbor, near the Johnson Street bridge. She will be ready for sea again towards the end of the week.

Capt. H. B. Bilson, who has been on sick leave, took over command of the Estevan Monday morning. During her recent trip he was in charge of Chief Officer H. S. Hughes.

IN SAN FRANCISCO
Harold B. Elworthy, manager of the Island Tug and Barge Company, has gone to San Francisco in connection with the purchase by his firm of the old sailing vessel Star of Holland, which will shortly be towed here for conversion into a tug boat.

Two vessels are now bound for Victoria from the United Kingdom and continental ports.

A. P. Moffat, local agent for the Holland-America Line, expects the Ss. Dinteldy here Thursday morning. She sailed from San Francisco yesterday afternoon.

The Ss. Pacific Rilliance of the Furness Line is also coming up the coast and will reach Victoria toward the end of the week.

BUSY SATURDAY
Saturday will be busy at the Ogden Docks, with two big Pacific liners in port.

First thing in the morning the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Russia is expected to make port from the Orient, with a large number of passengers, including returning delegates from the Eucharistic Congress in Manila.

Saturday afternoon, between 4 and 6 o'clock the American Mail liner President Grant will be in port, on her way to the Orient from Seattle.

NEW COMMANDER
Capt. H. Kannauich, who often came into port when Japanese liners called here regularly, glimpsed Victoria in the distance at the week-end from the bridge of the Ss. Hikawa Maru, of which he was recently appointed commander, succeeding Capt. T. Takahata, who has been given command of the Hakusan Maru, in the Japan-Europe route.

Capt. Kannauich first came to northwest waters in 1908 as an apprentice officer of the Iyo Maru, under Capt. H. Pearson. He was last here, prior to bringing in the Hikawa Maru, in 1923 as chief officer of the Toyama Maru. He has served in twenty-six ships, crossed the north Pacific twenty-seven times and traveled every continent and every range of ports, except the west coast of South America.

Churchill To Open Earlier

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The Hudson Bay route to Churchill, Man., will be opened August 5 this year compared with August 10 last year. The closing date without surcharge or insurance will be extended from August 7 to October 10. This was indicated in a reply tabled in the House yesterday to a question asked by W. A. Tucker, Liberal, Rosthern.

The opening date will be subject to provision that no vessel may pass Cape Chidley between August 5 and August 10 until advised by the patrol ship N. B. McLean that it is safe to do so. Vessels may use the route between October 11 and 15 by paying a 25 per cent insurance surcharge.

The reply explained the insurance rates on cargo was a matter of competition. Rate on ships using the Hudson Bay route to Churchill had been reduced annually from 1930 to 1936 by strong representations from the Dominion Government to the Imperial Shipping Committee.

The 1936 rates were approximately 1 1/2 per cent above the St. Lawrence route. The government would continue to press for lower Hudson Bay rates, the ministry replied.

Vancouver Shipping

Vancouver, Feb. 23 (Canadian Press).—The Norwegian motorship Horda, under charter to Latin-American Line, for which British Columbia Shipping Company Ltd. is agent, will arrive on the Fraser River Tuesday to load for South America. The ship ran aground at Coos Bay, Wash., Saturday night, but her agents report her undamaged.

Empire Shipping Company Ltd., agents in British Columbia for United Ocean Transport Company, were advised by cable yesterday that S. Ishida, president of the U.O.T., died at Kobe, Japan, Saturday.

Mr. Ishida was a frequent visitor to the British Columbia coast.

Unloading of 250,000 pounds of frozen fish from the American-owned coasting freighter Bellingham was delayed yesterday when the vessel's crew refused to provide steam for winches after local members of the Island Boatmen of the Pacific formed a picket line at Canadian Fishing Company's dock.

Negotiations to arrange a settlement were proceeding between J. Berg of Ketchikan, Alaska, owner of the vessel, and representatives of the union.
